Welcome from the Wood Family

We are a family owned and family-run holiday park business, operating 365 days per year.

Two generations of the Wood Family now operate six holiday parks in Scotland:

- 1981, Blairgowrie Holiday Park in Perthshire.
- 1994, Lomond Woods Holiday Park at Loch Lomond.
- 2000, Corriefodly Holiday Park in Perthshire.
- 2008, Deeside Holiday Park in Aberdeenshire.
- 2018, Callander Woods Holiday Park near Callander in the Trossachs National Park.
- 2024 Faskally Woods Holiday Park in Pitlochry.

Our family are conscientious and passionate about our business and our primary focus is maintaining the quality of our parks, the care of our customers and the professional management of our Parks. To achieve this, we need a motivated, skilled, loyal, and diverse team on all of our parks.

Teamwork is vital to our success and we aim to develop, support and inspire our teams to work well together and achieve their career goals. Colin and Margaret Wood have worked as a team for over 40 years now building the business from one small Scottish park in 1981 to six exceptional, award-winning and sustainable holiday parks. Over the years the next generation - daughters Rachel, Kirsty and Sarah - have influenced and inspired us and now lead us into the future.

These are simply examples, the documentation required will be specific to your own situation.

There may also be occasions in which we request you attend an Occupational Health appointment to provide professional advice on how best to support you in work.

Definitions

Introduction

The Company as referred to in this Handbook means Wood Leisure Holiday Parks Limited.

You are expected to familiarise yourself with these policies and to abide by the rules and instructions contained in this document. It is your responsibility to request guidance or further information (if required) to enable policies, rules, procedures and instructions to be complied with.

Categories Covered

At any given time, the workforce of any organisation can be made up of employees, workers and contractors. For the purpose of employment legislation, it is necessary to set out at the start of each policy within this Employee Handbook, which policies apply to which group. Definitions can be found below although these are only intended as a guide as specific legislation varies:

- an employee is somebody employed under a Contract of Employment or Apprenticeship;
- a worker is an individual with any other type of contract with the Company which involves personally performing work or services, e.g. a casual worker or a dependent self-employed contractor. This does not include circumstances in which the Company is a client or a customer of the individual;
- a contractor is an individual who has a contract to provide services to the Company e.g. an independent self-employed contractor.

Changes to the Employee Handbook

The Company reserves the right to review this document regularly and to ensure that this is updated where there are changes in legislation or Company procedure. You will always have an up to date copy available to consult.

Absence

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees and workers.

The purpose of this policy is to ensure that where you are genuinely unwell you are treated fairly and consistently, while minimising the impact of sickness absence on the Company.

The policy sets out procedures for reporting sickness absence and for the Company's management of short-term and long-term absence. Any absences that are disability-related will be managed in accordance with relevant legislation and related Codes of Practice.

This policy also contains information on your entitlements in relation to paid and unpaid time off work for reasons other than sickness.

The Company places a high priority on the health of its staff and their wellbeing, and would encourage you to speak to your line manager. Support and assistance is available and information given will be treated in strict confidence. Please also see our Wellbeing Policy for further information.

Your responsibilities

Breach of absence procedures

Breach of any of the absence reporting procedures detailed below, including those relating to the notification of absence or provision of a medical certificate, may result in disciplinary action. Any periods of absence that are unauthorised may be treated as gross misconduct and could lead to your dismissal without notice from the Company. Unauthorised absence will not be subject to pay.

Frequent short-term absence

Persistent absenteeism has a detrimental impact on your colleagues and on the Company as a whole. If it is considered that your absence level is a cause for concern, the Company may meet with you to investigate the situation fully. The Company may require you to undergo an Occupational Health assessment.

The Company cannot sustain frequent short-term absences, even if the reasons for the absences are genuine. Therefore, unacceptable levels of absence will be subject to disciplinary proceedings. The Company will take into account the reasons, frequency and pattern of your non-attendance in determining an appropriate course of action.

The Company considers frequent absence to be three occasions in a three month period. In the event that your level of absence reaches an absence trigger point an investigation will take place and disciplinary action may be taken.

If you are issued with a formal disciplinary warning you will be advised as to the level of attendance which the Company expects of you. If you fail to achieve this level of attendance further disciplinary action may be taken.

Medical report

It may be necessary for the Company to obtain a medical report during the course of your employment in order to gather further information about your medical condition, its probable effect on your future attendance at work, your ability to do your job and whether there are any reasonable adjustments to be made, if appropriate.

Although you have the statutory right to withhold your consent to the Company to approach your GP or consultant for a medical report, if you do choose to withhold your consent to our application, the Company may need to assess your state of health and its impact on your continued employment without the benefit of professional medical advice.

You may also be required to undergo a medical examination by a doctor nominated by the Company. The Company will be entitled to receive any report produced in connection with any such examination, and the Company may discuss the contents of the report with the doctor in question.

If you refuse to undergo a medical examination without good reason, this may be viewed as a failure to follow a reasonable management instruction and could result in disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal without notice.

Medical suspension

If the Company becomes concerned about your health and safety at work, or that the health and safety of others is being affected by your physical and/or mental health, you may be suspended on medical grounds pending further investigation to establish that you are fit to work. You will receive full pay during the period of your suspension.

Your entitlements

Medical and dental appointments

Where possible, you are requested to arrange any medical or dental appointments outside working hours.

If you have a medical or dental appointment and cannot be at work within 15 minutes of your start time, you should request a half day holiday. If your appointment is during your working day, it may be possible to take your lunch break at a time convenient to attend this. You should speak to your line manager about this, and if it is not possible, a half day holiday should be requested.

Where a half day holiday will be necessary, you should submit your request as far in advance as possible using the RotaCloud system. If the appointment requires to be made at very short notice, this should be discussed with your line manager before confirming the appointment.

Unless otherwise agreed, you will not be paid for any time off as a result of medical or dental appointments (unless a holiday is taken), with the exception of antenatal appointments.

Jury service

You are entitled to time off work for jury service. You should notify management immediately on receipt of the jury summons, giving full details.

You will not normally be paid for this time off, and you are advised to claim the expenses to which you are entitled from the Court. These will typically include compensation for loss of earnings.

Time off for religious observance

You should make any requests for time off for religious observance to your manager as early as possible. Although you have no legal or contractual right to religious leave or time off to pray, the Company will consider all such requests.

Time off for religious observance must be taken from your rest periods or annual holiday entitlement. Alternatively, at the Company's discretion, you may work additional hours in lieu of the time taken off.

If you wish to take the time off as annual holiday, you should make the request in accordance with the Company's annual holiday procedures. For the avoidance of doubt, the Company's rules relating to annual holiday will apply.

Bereavement leave

In addition to your right to take reasonable unpaid time off following the death of a dependant, the Company may, at its discretion, permit you to take paid or unpaid leave following the death of an immediate relative.

Immediate relative (spouse, partner, civil partner, parent, child, brother or sister):	Up to five days paid leave.
Any other relative or friend (grandparent, in-laws, aunt, uncle, cousin etc.)	Holidays or unpaid leave.

Please speak to your line manager for further information.

Adverse weather and other exceptional circumstances

If you are unable to attend work due to adverse weather conditions or other exceptional circumstances, you will not be paid for any periods of non-attendance. You may request to take paid holidays or work additional hours at an alternative time to make up for the time you have been absent. The Company reserves the right to refuse such requests depending on the needs of the business.

If the Company cannot operate due to these exceptional circumstances, it reserves the right to require you to take holidays during this time or impose a period of lay-off, when appropriate. The Company also reserves the right not to provide you with advance notice of this requirement.

Other types of leave

The Company will adhere to statutory requirements in providing time off when you have commitments relating to public office or role, trade union duties and activities and the Armed Forces Reserves. You should discuss such requests for time off with your manager at the earliest opportunity in order to work out the necessary arrangements, allow planning time and work with your manager to minimise any potential disruption to the Company.

Disabilities

If you have a disability that impacts on your attendance at work, the Company will give consideration to whether there are any reasonable adjustments that could be made to your job or other aspects of your working arrangements to minimise absenteeism or assist your return to work.

Absence-reporting proceduresSickness absence reporting - all staff except Reservations

You must notify the Company as soon as possible of your sickness absence. You should do this personally, by telephone at the earliest opportunity, no later than one hour before your scheduled start time, to a member of the HR Team on the first day of absence. This is necessary to allow for suitable cover to be arranged.

- Within office hours - call 01250 878123, option 7 for HR.
- Outwith office hours - you can call the same number, but can leave full message of the reasons for your absence and a telephone number on which you can be called back during the day.
- Option 7 - please be aware this is not listed on the voice recording, but be reassured it is the option to choose.

It is not acceptable for you to text, email, advise by social media, contact a colleague or have a friend or relative call on your behalf.

You should provide the reason for your absence, an estimate of how long you expect to be off work, a telephone number by which you can be contacted and details of any outstanding or urgent work that requires attention.

If you are going to be absent for more than one day, then please keep us advised. You must maintain daily contact whilst you remain absent from work in the first seven calendar days, unless advised otherwise by management.

Sickness absence reporting - Reservations

You must notify the Company as soon as possible of your sickness absence. You should do this personally, by telephone at the earliest opportunity to either the Reservations Manager or Rachel directly on the first day of absence. This is necessary to allow for suitable cover to be arranged.

If your start time is 8.00 a.m. you must do so between 6.30 a.m. and 7.00 a.m., by calling them directly.

In the unlikely event that neither are available, you should call 01250 878123, choosing option 2 and speaking to the Emergency HO on call person.

It is not acceptable for you to text, email, advise by social media, contact a colleague or have a friend or relative call on your behalf.

You should provide the reason for your absence, an estimate of how long you expect to be off work, a telephone number by which you can be contacted and details of any outstanding or urgent work that requires attention.

If you are going to be absent for more than one day, then please keep us advised. You must maintain daily contact whilst you remain absent from work in the first seven calendar days, unless advised otherwise by management.

All absences are logged on Rotacloud

All absences will be logged on RotaCloud and will require relevant absence information to be completed on the site by you, your line manager and the HR team.

Medical certification

If your absence lasts for seven calendar days or fewer, you must complete an absence form immediately upon your return to work.

However, if you are entitled to contractual sick pay (please see your contract of employment for details) you may also be required to provide the appropriate medical certification for absences of fewer than seven days.

If your absence lasts more than seven calendar days, you must forward a medical certificate, completed by a medical practitioner, to management in order to cover the absence.

The medical certificate must be submitted as soon as possible. If you unreasonably delay in providing a medical certificate, your absence will be classed as unauthorised.

If, on a medical certificate, your doctor recommends any adjustments to your duties, hours or working conditions, the Company will discuss these with you and implement the recommendations, if these are reasonably practicable.

Failure to comply with the arrangements to assist your return to work without good reason may be treated as misconduct and may result in disciplinary action.

It is essential that you keep the Company updated on the reasons for your continued absence and its estimated duration. You should contact the Company daily during periods of absence unless you are instructed otherwise by your manager. You should also contact the Company before the expiry of your medical certificate if you continue to be unwell. In addition, a further medical certificate should be submitted immediately on expiry of the previous certificate. Failure to contact the Company or submit a medical certificate at this time may result in the interim absence being classed as unauthorised.

Procedure for return to work

You should contact your manager as soon as you become aware of your intended return date. If this date changes, you should update the Company immediately.

Return to work meeting

Your manager will interview you on your return to work following a period of absence. The reasons for your absence will be discussed and your manager will decide whether the absence should be authorised. The onus is on you to satisfy management that there was a genuine medical reason for the absence.

Long-term absence

Welfare meetings

During a period of long-term absence, you are required to attend any scheduled welfare meetings with the Company. The purpose of these meetings is to discuss your current state of health, how long you expect to be absent from work and what steps, if any, the Company can take to facilitate your return to work.

If you are medically incapable of attending your place of work, a representative of the Company will come out to visit you. If the time scheduled for the meeting is not suitable, you should contact the Company immediately so that an alternative time can be agreed. You are also required to respond to any correspondence from the Company and any requests for information about your health.

Medical certification

You should continue to provide medical certificates, completed by your medical practitioner, even if you have exhausted your entitlement to sick pay.

Failure to co-operate

The Company will always be sensitive to your physical and mental wellbeing during periods of long-term absence. However, where there is a failure, without good reason, to co-operate with the Company in relation to attending meetings, communicating effectively, attending occupational-health assessments and providing necessary information, this may be treated as misconduct and the Company may take disciplinary action.

Termination of employment

The Company is committed to supporting you during your absence and assisting your return to work. However, a prolonged period of absence cannot be sustained indefinitely, and the Company may need to review your continued employment periodically. Before any decision is made in relation to termination of your employment on the grounds of capability, the Company will consult fully with you and may obtain up-to-date medical advice.

Alcohol and Drugs Misuse

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors.

The purpose of the policy is to set out the Company's position on drug or alcohol misuse in the workplace, to protect the health and safety of workers and to comply with relevant legislation.

Breaches of the policy may be viewed as gross misconduct and may result in disciplinary action up to and including dismissal without notice.

Your responsibilities

You must not be under the influence of drugs or alcohol when you report for work or during working time.

Company Premises

Company premises are classified as any working area. Where accommodation is provided for the proper performance of your duties, you are permitted to consume alcohol within your accommodation while off duty (and not on-call), and when you are not required to carry out any work related tasks.

Medication or Herbal Remedies

If you are taking medication or herbal remedies that may affect your work performance, or the safety, of yourself or others, you must inform the Company as soon as possible of which medication you are taking and the possible side effects.

The Company reserves the right to require you to undergo testing for alcohol or drugs in certain circumstances.

Support for alcohol or drug misuse problems

If you have, or believe you may have an alcohol or drug problem, you should inform the Company and seek medical advice before it affects your performance or conduct at work. If you come forward and seek help for an alcohol or drug problem you will be treated sympathetically and any discussions will remain confidential.

The Company will treat any absence due to drug and alcohol abuse in the same way as sickness absence on condition that you have obtained professional help and/or are receiving treatment. However, you must not be under the influence of alcohol or drugs at work throughout this time of support.

The use, possession, storage, transportation, promotion and/or sale of illegal drugs are forbidden in any situation connected to the Company. The Company reserves the right to involve the relevant authorities if it is deemed appropriate.

You are also expected to comply with any third party site rules, policies and procedures.

Procedure

The Company will take all reasonable steps to prevent anyone carrying out work-related activities, if they are considered to be unfit or unsafe to undertake the work as a result of drug or alcohol consumption.

If you are suspected to be under the influence of alcohol or drugs during working hours or on Company premises, the Company reserves the right to send you home. This type of incident may be viewed as a gross misconduct offence and dealt with under the Company's Disciplinary Procedure, which could result in dismissal without notice. If the Company has reasonable grounds to believe that you were under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol at work you will not be paid for this day.

The rules relating to drug use or possession extends to those members of the teams who reside in accommodation provided by the Company. Drug use or possession will not be tolerated on our premises, including outwith working hours, office hours or opening hours.

Annual Holidays

What this policy covers

This policy sets out the rules and procedures in relation to taking annual holidays. It applies to all employees and workers.

Your entitlements and responsibilities

Details of the holiday year and your annual holiday entitlement can be found in your Contract of Employment.

Accrual of holidays

Annual holiday entitlement during your first year of employment accrues at the rate of one-twelfth of the full annual holiday entitlement, on the first day of each month, in advance.

You will not be permitted to take annual holiday during the first year of employment before it has accrued, unless otherwise agreed. Thereafter, you will be entitled to your full annual holiday entitlement each year and there will be no requirement to accrue holiday rights.

If you are classed as an irregular hour or part-year worker or employee, you will be notified separately of the different accrual rules which apply to your holiday entitlement.

Timing and length of holidays

You are not normally permitted to take more than two weeks' holiday at any one time, except at the sole discretion of the Company.

Due to Wood Leisure's peak time being July and August, holidays are discouraged during this period however if requested should be discussed as early as possible with your line manager and prior to any holiday plans being arranged.

Our business does not close on public holidays as this is generally when we are busiest therefore your public holiday allocation is included within your full annual holiday entitlement. Please be aware due to public holidays being busy, holiday leave is generally not granted during these times.

The Company may require you to reserve a specified amount of annual holiday entitlement to be taken at a time set by the Company depending on the needs of the business and will give you advance notice of such a requirement. The notice given will be at least twice the period of annual holiday that you will be required to take during the specified time.

This will most likely be relied upon towards the end of the holiday year if a large amount of your entitlement remains unused, or during quieter periods, planned renovation periods or unplanned / unexpected business interruptions e.g. COVID. These are examples, but the use of this clause would not be restricted to these examples.

Carrying over unused holidays

You are not normally permitted to carry over accrued annual holiday from one holiday year to the next. Holidays not taken within the holiday year will be lost.

You will be permitted to carry over annual holiday that you have been unable to take due to statutory leave (for example maternity, paternity, adoption or shared parental leave). Holiday entitlement carried over as a result of statutory leave must be used within 12 months.

If you have been unable to take annual holiday due to sickness, carry-over will be restricted to a maximum of four weeks (minus any annual holiday taken). This restriction does not apply if you are classed as an irregular hour or part-year worker/employee. Holiday entitlement carried over as a result of sickness absence must be used within 18 months.

Holiday during long-term absences

You will continue to accrue holiday entitlement during sickness absence.

You are permitted to take annual holiday during periods of sickness and this must be requested via the normal procedure.

Termination of employment

The Company may require you to take all or part of any outstanding holiday entitlement during a period of notice to terminate employment or garden leave. The Company reserves the right not to provide you with advance notice of this requirement.

Upon the termination of your employment, for whatever reason, you will be entitled to be paid for holiday accrued but not taken in the current holiday year, at the date of termination of employment.

If upon the termination of your employment you have taken more annual holiday than you have accrued in the current holiday year, an appropriate deduction will be made from your final payment.

If you are dismissed for gross misconduct or if you fail to give the required notice on resignation, you are not entitled to be recompensed for unused holidays in excess of the minimum statutory entitlement.

Unauthorised holidays

If you are absent from work on a date on which a holiday request has been refused, the Company will investigate the reason for your absence. If the Company considers that you do not have a reasonable explanation for your non-attendance, you may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal without notice.

Sickness and holidays

If you are taken ill or sustain an injury during a period of authorised holiday, you may be permitted to take the holiday at a later time. You must follow normal absence reporting and medical certification procedures.

If you are absent from work due to sickness immediately prior to a period of authorised holiday and your incapacity extends into the authorised holiday period, you may be permitted to delay the period of holiday until a later time. You should submit a written request to postpone the planned holiday, together with a medical certificate completed by a medical practitioner.

If you receive more than the statutory minimum annual holiday entitlement and you are absent without authorisation on the day before or the day after a public holiday, the Company reserves the right to withhold holiday pay in respect of that public holiday.

Procedure

Procedure for requesting holidays

All periods of annual holiday must be authorised in advance by your manager. You must not make firm holiday arrangements before receiving confirmation from your manager that your request has been authorised.

You are required to submit annual holiday requests to your line manager using the RotaCloud system as early as possible, normally giving a minimum of two weeks' notice prior to the requested annual holiday start date.

Please speak to your line manager in the first instance in the event you do not receive confirmation of a holiday request.

Requests for annual holiday will normally be granted on a 'first come, first served' basis. Owing to the needs of the business, the Company reserves the right to limit those who are permitted to take holiday at the same time. The granting of all holiday requests will be subject to adequate cover being available and the overall needs of the Company.

Anti-Bribery and Corruption

What this policy covers

This policy applies to all individuals working at all levels and grades, including senior managers, officers, directors, employees (whether permanent, fixed-term or temporary), consultants, contractors, trainees, seconded staff, home-workers, casual workers, agency staff, volunteers, interns, agents, sponsors, or any other person associated with us, or any of our subsidiaries or their employees, wherever located (collectively referred to as "workers" in this policy).

It is the Company's policy to conduct all of our business in an honest and ethical manner. The Company will not tolerate any acts of bribery and corruption and is committed to acting professionally and ethically in all our business dealings and relationships, wherever we operate, and we are committed to implementing and enforcing effective systems to counter bribery.

The purpose of this policy is to ensure that you are aware of your duties towards the Company to report and help to prevent any acts of bribery across the organisation.

What is bribery?

A bribe is an inducement or reward offered, promised or provided in order to gain a commercial, contractual, regulatory, or personal advantage.

The Bribery Act 2010 contains two general offences covering the offering, promising or giving of a bribe ("active" bribery) and the requesting, agreeing to receive or accepting of a bribe ("passive" bribery). The Act also introduces a new form of corporate liability for failing to prevent bribery on behalf of a commercial organisation.

An individual who is found to have committed an offence of bribery can be imprisoned for a term of up to ten years, and the Company could face an unlimited fine for any bribery related offences committed by a person associated with us. The implications for the Company are very serious; for example, we could be excluded from tendering for public contracts and could suffer inevitable damage to our reputation. We therefore take our responsibilities in this regard very seriously.

As a result, you are required to comply with the procedures which the Company has put in place to prevent persons associated with us from committing acts of bribery and corruption.

Your entitlements and responsibilities

The purpose of this policy is to set out the Company's responsibilities, and the responsibilities of those working for us, in observing and upholding our position on bribery and corruption; and to provide information and guidance to those working for us on how to recognise and deal with bribery and corruption issues.

In this policy, any references to "third parties", means any individual or organisation you come into contact with during the course of your work for us, and includes actual and potential clients, customers, suppliers, distributors, business contacts, agents, advisers, and government and public bodies, including their advisors, representatives and officials, politicians and political parties.

Gifts, Hospitality, Promotional, and other Business Expenditure

This policy should be read in conjunction with any Business Gifts Policy that may be in operation at any time. This policy does not prohibit normal and appropriate hospitality (given and received) to or from third parties. Hospitality and promotional, or other business expenditure which seeks to improve the image of the Company, or to establish cordial relations with our clients, suppliers and business partners, is recognised as an accepted and important part of doing business.

Subject to prior authorisation by your line manager, the Company may allow reasonable and proportionate hospitality and promotional or other similar business expenditure intended for these purposes. However, offers or receipts of hospitality and other similar business expenditure can be employed as a form of bribery. It is therefore essential that any such corporate gifts and receipts of this nature are reported and duly authorised.

The giving or receipt of gifts is not prohibited, if the following requirements are met:

- it is not made with the intention of influencing a third party to obtain or retain business or a business advantage, or to reward the provision or retention of business or a business advantage, or in explicit or implicit exchange for favours or benefits;
- it complies with local law;
- it is given in the Company's name, not in your name;
- it does not include cash or a cash equivalent (such as gift certificates or vouchers);
- it is appropriate in the circumstances, for example, it is often customary for small gifts to be given at Christmas time;
- taking into account the reason for the gift, it is of an appropriate type and value and given at an appropriate time;
- it is given openly, not secretly; and
- gifts should not be offered to, or accepted from, government officials or representatives, or politicians or political parties, without the prior approval of your line manager.

In all circumstances, the test to be applied is whether, the gift or hospitality is reasonable and justifiable.

It is not acceptable for you (or someone on your behalf) to:

- give, promise to give, or offer, a payment, gift or hospitality with the expectation or hope that a business advantage will be received, or to reward a business advantage already given;
- give, promise to give, or offer, a payment, gift or hospitality to a government official, agent or representative to "facilitate" or expedite a routine procedure;
- accept payment from a third party that you know or suspect is offered with the expectation that it will obtain a business advantage for them;
- accept a gift or hospitality from a third party if you know or suspect that it is offered or provided with an expectation that a business advantage will be provided by the Company in return;
- threaten or retaliate against another worker who has refused to commit a bribery offence or who has raised concerns under this policy; or
- engage in any activity that might lead to a breach of this policy.

Facilitation payments

We do not make, and will not accept, facilitation payments or "kickbacks" of any kind. Facilitation payments are typically small, unofficial payments made to secure or expedite a routine government action by a government official.

If you are asked to make a payment on the Company's behalf, you should always be mindful of what the payment is for and whether the amount requested is proportionate to the goods or services provided. You should always ask for a receipt which details the reason for the payment. If you have any suspicions, concerns or queries regarding a payment, you should raise these with your line manager.

Kickbacks are typically payments made in return for a business favour or advantage. All workers must avoid any activity that might lead to, or suggest, that a facilitation payment or kickback will be made or accepted by us.

Recording the receipt and giving of gifts

You must declare and keep a written record of all hospitality or gifts accepted or offered, which will be subject to managerial review.

You must ensure all expenses claims relating to hospitality, gifts or expenses incurred to third parties are submitted in accordance with our expenses policy and specifically record the reason for the expenditure.

All accounts, invoices, memoranda and other documents and records relating to dealings with third parties, such as clients, suppliers and business contacts, should be prepared and maintained with strict accuracy and completeness.

You must ensure that you read, understand and comply with this policy.

The prevention, detection and reporting of bribery and other forms of corruption are the responsibility of all those working for us or under our control. All workers are required to avoid any activity that might lead to, or suggest, a breach of this policy.

Procedure

Reporting a concern

You must notify your line manager as soon as possible if you believe or suspect that a conflict with this policy has occurred, or may occur in the future. For example, if a third party, client or potential client offers you something to gain a business advantage with the Company, or indicates to you that a gift or payment is required to secure their business.

Any breach of this policy will normally be a disciplinary offence, which could result in your dismissal for gross misconduct.

You are encouraged to raise concerns about any issue or suspicion at the earliest possible stage. If you are unsure whether a particular act constitutes bribery or corruption, or if you have any other queries, these should be raised with your line manager. Concerns should be reported by following the procedure set out in the Company's Whistleblowing Policy.

It is important that you notify your line manager as soon as possible if you are offered a bribe by a third party, are asked to make one, suspect that this may happen in the future, or believe that you are a victim of another form of unlawful activity.

Confidential and safe reporting procedures

Those who refuse to accept or offer a bribe, or those who raise concerns or report another's wrongdoing, are sometimes worried about possible repercussions. We aim to encourage openness and will support anyone who raises genuine concerns in good faith under this policy.

The Company is committed to ensuring that no one suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of raising any concerns under this policy. If you believe that you have suffered any such treatment, you should inform your line manager immediately. If the matter is not remedied, then you should raise it formally using our Grievance Procedure which can be found in the Employee Handbook. Where the Grievance procedure is not applicable you should raise a formal complaint.

Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave Policy

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees only.

The Company recognises that the death of a child's mother or primary adopter is an exceptionally distressing circumstance. This policy sets out the statutory right to Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave, the qualifying conditions and the procedure to request Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave. It also explains how and when the leave can be taken and sets out your contractual rights during such leave.

If you meet the qualifying conditions set out below, you are entitled to take Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave. The Company will administer this leave in accordance with the relevant statutory requirements and will handle all requests sensitively and confidentially.

Your entitlements

You will qualify for Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave if:

- you are an employee
- you are the spouse, civil partner or partner of the child's mother or primary adopter at the time of their death
- the child's mother or primary adopter dies within 52 weeks of the child's birth or placement for adoption
- you have, or expect to have, responsibility for the upbringing of the child following the death and
- the death occurs on or after 6 April 2026.

There is no minimum length of service requirement to qualify for Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave.

If you meet the qualifying conditions, you are entitled to take up to 52 weeks' Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave. Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave is unpaid.

Parental orders

Parental orders (surrogacy cases): If a child is born through a surrogacy arrangement, Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave may apply where the child's "primary parental order parent" dies within the first year after birth. A parental order is a court order which transfers legal parenthood from the surrogate to the intended parent(s). You do not need to have received the parental order before taking Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave, but you must have applied (or intend to apply) for one within six months of the child's birth and expect it to be granted. As with other cases, you must have main responsibility for the child's upbringing.

Keeping in Touch (KIT) days

During your Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave, you may work up to 10 days for the Company, during your Leave.

Any days worked will be paid at your normal rate of pay.

Neither you nor the Company is under any obligation to agree to work or provide work for KIT days.

Procedure

The leave must be taken as a single continuous period and must be taken within 52 weeks of the child's birth or placement for adoption.

Where the death occurs less than 14 days before the end of the 52-week period, leave can be taken up to 14 days after the bereavement date.

Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave is separate from:

- statutory paternity leave;
- parental bereavement leave; and
- time off for dependants.

During Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave, you are entitled to your normal terms and conditions of employment, with the exception of pay (unless statutory or contractual pay applies).

Notification

If you wish to take Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave, you must notify the Company of:

- the date of the death of the child's mother or primary adopter;
- the date on which you wish the leave to begin; and
- the intended duration of the leave.

Where leave is to begin within eight weeks of the death, notice may be given informally (including verbally) before the first day of absence, or as soon as reasonably practicable.

Where leave is to begin more than eight weeks after the death, you should provide at least one week's written notice before the intended start date.

The Company may request a written declaration confirming that you meet the eligibility criteria.

Given the nature of the circumstances, the Company will apply these requirements sensitively and with flexibility where appropriate.

Varying or cancelling leave

You may vary the start date or cancel your leave by notifying the Company before your leave begins. If the new leave start date is more than eight weeks after the bereavement date, you should give at least one week's notice of any change. If insufficient notice is given, the Company may postpone the start of leave, but not beyond the end of the 52-week eligibility period.

Varying the return to work date

If you wish to vary your return to work date and the new return date is no more than eight weeks after the bereavement date, you must give at least one week's written notice. If your new return date is more than eight weeks after the bereavement date, you should give at least eight weeks' notice of the new date. If you do not give the required notice, the Company may postpone your return. The Company will not postpone your return beyond the end of your original 52-week leave period.

Returning to work after Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave

Your terms and conditions of employment will remain unchanged upon your return from a period of Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave.

Breach of this policy

If you knowingly take Bereaved Partner's Paternity Leave when you do not meet the qualifying conditions, this may be treated as a disciplinary matter and could potentially lead to dismissal.

Business Gifts

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors.

The acceptance of gifts and offers of hospitality can give rise to suspicion of inappropriate conduct, particularly if offered by individuals or businesses that carry out, or are hoping to carry out, business for the Company.

This policy establishes the fundamental principles of the giving, accepting and refusing of gifts and hospitality.

Your responsibilities

Hospitality

You must not accept offers of hospitality, including attending sporting and social functions, unless these are properly authorised and recorded by the appropriate manager.

Acceptance of hospitality at relevant conferences, courses or events may be appropriate where it is clear that the hospitality is corporate rather than personal and where the Company has given its consent in advance.

All associated benefits, such as accommodation, travel, entertainment, and presents must be refused.

Gifts

As a general rule, you should not accept gifts from suppliers, clients, customers, contractors or any other person you deal with in your role with the Company.

If the value of the item is negligible, or if the item is presented as a seasonal gift, you should comply with the procedure set out below.

Procedure

Recording Gifts and Hospitality

All gifts and hospitality, however small, must be reported to your line manager in order that they can be recorded as required and shared with the team (when applicable).

Hospitality

When hospitality is declined, those making the offer should be politely informed of the Company's policy and procedures for accepting such offers.

Receipt of gifts

If the gift might constitute a bribe or other inducement, you are required to give the gift to your line manager, who will return it to the donor with a suitable covering letter.

In other instances, where appropriate, the Company will require you to return the gift to the donor with a polite note explaining the Company policy.

In exceptional cases, for example, if the Company decides that the gift was made as a token of the donor's gratitude for a service carried out the Company may allow you to retain the gift.

Promotional gifts that are of trivial value (for example, promotional pens) are exempt from this policy and need not be disclosed.

On seasonal occasions you may receive a number of gifts, for example, chocolates, bottles of wine, and so on. These gifts should be given to your line manager, who will ensure that they are distributed appropriately across the Company.

Giving gifts

Although it is not Company policy to offer gifts, the Company recognises that, on occasion, this may be appropriate, for example, in recognition of exceptional service.

If you wish to propose that the Company presents a gift, you should put a request in writing to your line manager stating:

- who the gift is for
- why it should be given
- the nature of the gift
- the gift's approximate value

If you send gifts that have not been approved in accordance with this procedure, you will not be reimbursed for the cost of the gift. In addition, such action may be treated as a disciplinary offence, which will be dealt with under the Company Disciplinary Procedure.

Company Hospitality

The Company may occasionally run hospitality events, primarily aimed at thanking clients. You must not organise any additional hospitality event without seeking authority from your line manager. Any breach of this policy may result in summary dismissal.

Capability Policy and Procedure

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees only.

This policy is designed to ensure that all instances of repeated short term absence are dealt with fairly and consistently and to encourage an improvement in individual attendance at work. It outlines the procedures that the Company will follow should there be a need to take action in respect of repeated short term absence and your right to appeal.

The Company reserves the right not to follow this procedure if you have less than 24 months' continuous service.

Your entitlements and responsibilities

The Company aims to deal with instances of repeated short term absence fairly and consistently.

You have the right to appeal against a decision the Company makes at a formal meeting related to your repeated short term absences from work. In these cases, the Company will make every effort for the appeal to be dealt with by a different manager to the person who dealt with the matter initially.

The Company's decision at the appeal stage is final and there is no further right of appeal.

You have a responsibility to assist the Company, if required, to investigate the matters raised at meetings relating to your repeated short term absences and to comply with the capability procedure.

Disabilities

At each stage of the procedure consideration will be given to whether your unsatisfactory attendance is arising from a disability and if so whether there are any reasonable adjustments that could be made to support you. Where appropriate the Company may also consider making reasonable adjustments to this procedure.

Levels of Capability sanctions

Where possible, the Company will seek to deal with instances of repeated short term absence informally. Where informal steps are not enough to improve your level of attendance or where the absences become more persistent, formal action will be taken as described below. Other than in exceptional circumstances you will not normally be dismissed for a first instance of unacceptable short term absence.

Written Improvement Notice

A Written Improvement Notice will usually be applied as the first step of corrective action in case of repeated short- term absences.

The Written Improvement Notice will:

- provide an explanation of the reasons for the improvement notice;
- set out the improvement in attendance required;
- set out any support the Company can offer you;
- set out a review period during which your attendance will be monitored;
- set out the consequences of your failure to meet the required improvement in attendance; and
- confirm your right of appeal against the decision to issue you with an improvement notice.

At the end of the review period the Company will inform you whether you have achieved the improvement in attendance required in which case no further action will be taken.

If you have not achieved the improvement in attendance required the review period may be extended or further action may be taken.

Final Written Warning

If you have not achieved the improvement in attendance required as set out in the Written Improvement Notice a Final Written Warning may be issued to you. The Final Written Warning will:

- provide an explanation of the reasons for the Final Written Warning;
- set out the improvement in attendance required;
- set out any support the Company can offer you;
- set out a review period during which your attendance will be monitored;
- set out the consequences of your failure to meet the required improvement in attendance and that this could include your dismissal; and
- confirm your right of appeal against the decision to issue you with a Final Written Warning.

At the end of the review period the Company will inform you whether you have achieved the improvement in attendance required in which case no further action will be taken.

If you have not achieved the improvement in attendance required the review period may be extended or further action may be taken.

Dismissal

If you have not achieved the improvement in attendance required as set out in the Final Written Warning the outcome may be your dismissal.

You will be provided with confirmation of your dismissal in writing. This will

- set out the reasons for your dismissal;
- confirm the date your employment has terminated or will terminate; and
- confirm your right to appeal the decision to dismiss you.

The Company reserves the right, at its complete discretion, to impose a sanction short of dismissal if it is deemed appropriate. This may include demotion, transfer to a different post or another appropriate sanction. Any such decision will be confirmed to you in writing once you have been informed of the outcome.

Procedure

In the first instance, absence issues should normally be dealt with informally between you and your line manager as part of day-to-day management. The formal procedure should be used in any case where an earlier informal discussion has not resulted in a satisfactory improvement.

Invitation to a Capability meeting

If you are required to attend a formal Capability meeting, the Company will inform you of this in writing.

In the letter, the Company will set out the issues that are to be considered, the potential consequences and, since this is a formal meeting, your right to be accompanied by a companion.

Where appropriate, we will also enclose copies of relevant documents, for example, your absence records, any medical report obtained and any relevant policies. The letter will also inform you of the date and time of the meeting to allow you sufficient time to prepare your case.

Your right to be accompanied at a Capability meeting

You are entitled to be accompanied at a Capability meeting by a fellow worker or a trade union official. With the exception of those under the age of 18, when a parent or guardian will be permitted, no other person will normally be permitted to attend.

We may, at our sole discretion, allow you to bring a companion who is not a colleague or union representative where reasonable adjustments are necessary to help you overcome a particular difficulty caused by a disability.

Should you wish to be accompanied, you must notify the Company of the name and position of your chosen companion as soon as possible.

Your companion is permitted to put forward and summarise your case, respond on your behalf to views expressed in the meeting, ask questions and confer with you, but will not be entitled to answer questions directly on your behalf.

Action if you cannot attend the meeting on the proposed date

If you feel that you have a legitimate reason as to why you cannot attend the meeting on the proposed date, you must contact the person named on the invitation letter to advise them of this fact immediately. The meeting may then be delayed to facilitate your attendance, if this is considered reasonable.

Attending the Capability meeting

You must attend the meeting at the proposed time. Failure to participate in the process or attend arranged meetings without good reason may result in a decision being made in your absence.

Prior to the meeting, you should ensure that you are fully prepared to answer questions relating to the circumstances in question. At the meeting you will be given every opportunity to state your case and present any evidence before any decision is made.

After the Capability meeting

At the end of the meeting there will normally be an adjournment to allow for consideration of the facts. You will be informed of the outcome and any sanction will be confirmed in writing to you as soon as possible.

In some circumstances there may be a need to adjourn and reconvene a meeting at a later date if we need to gather any further information, or give consideration to matters discussed at the meeting. In this case you will be advised accordingly.

Notification of the decision

Following the Capability meeting, the Company will notify you of its decision and the Capability sanction it will apply. This letter will also explain your right to appeal against any decision taken and sanction applied.

Your right of appeal against a Capability sanction

If you wish to appeal against a decision you must submit your request in writing, stating the reasons for the appeal, to the individual identified in the letter confirming the sanction. This should be submitted within five working days of receiving notification.

The Appeal meeting

You will be informed of the date and time of the Appeal meeting. If you feel that you have a legitimate reason as to why you cannot attend the meeting on the proposed date, you must contact the person named on the invitation letter to inform them of this fact immediately. The meeting may then be delayed to facilitate your attendance, if this is considered reasonable. You will be entitled to be accompanied by a fellow worker or a Trade Union official.

At the Appeal meeting you will be given an opportunity to state your case. Your companion is permitted to put forward and summarise your case, respond on your behalf to views expressed in the meeting, ask questions and confer with you, but will not be entitled to answer questions directly on your behalf.

The meeting will then be adjourned to allow the Company to consider the facts and the decision will be confirmed in writing. The outcome will be communicated as soon as possible, taking into account the complexity of the issues raised in the appeal. The decision at this stage will be final.

Carer's Leave

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees only.

The Company recognises that employees may need to take unpaid leave from work to provide or arrange care for their dependants with long-term care needs. This policy outlines the qualifying conditions and the procedure to request Carer's Leave. It also sets out how and when the leave can be taken, and provides information on your contractual rights in relation to Carer's Leave.

If you meet the qualifying conditions set out below, you are entitled to take the relevant Carer's Leave for dependants with long-term care needs. The Company will consider all requests for Carer's Leave; however, you must be aware that Carer's Leave can only be authorised at times when this does not unduly disrupt the operational needs of the business.

Your entitlements

Qualifying conditions

In order to qualify for Carer's Leave you must also have a dependant with a long-term care need.

A dependant is defined as any of the following:

- a spouse;
- a civil partner;
- a child;
- a parent;
- a person who lives in the same household as you other than as your tenant, lodger, boarder or someone you employ;
- a person who reasonably relies on you to provide or arrange care.

A dependant has a long-term care need if:

- they have an illness or injury (whether physical or mental) that requires, or is likely to require, care for more than three months;
- they have a disability for the purposes of the Equality Act 2010;
- they require care for a reason connected with their old age.

Taking Carer's Leave

If you meet the qualifying conditions, you are entitled to one week's unpaid leave to provide or arrange care in each rolling 12-month period.

The leave may be taken in either individual days or half days, up to a block of one week.

Contractual benefits during Carer's Leave

You are entitled to enjoy your normal terms and conditions of employment, with the exception of pay, while on Carer's Leave.

Procedure

You are required to give the Company notice in advance, specifying that you are entitled to take Carer's Leave, and the period of leave requested. The notice that you give should be either twice as many days as the period of leave required, or three days, whichever is greater. For example, you should give at least two weeks' notice to take one week's leave, or at least three days' notice to take one day's leave.

The right to postpone Carer's Leave

The Company may postpone a Carer's Leave request where it reasonably considers that the operation of the business would be unduly disrupted if it allowed the leave during the requested period.

If the Company is required to postpone the Carer's Leave request, it will give you a written notice as soon as possible and no later than seven days from the date of your initial request, setting out the reason for the postponement and the agreed dates on which the leave can be taken. The postponed Carer's Leave will be of the same duration and within a month of the period initially requested.

Returning to work after Carer's Leave

Your terms of employment will remain unchanged upon your return from a period of Carer's Leave.

Breach of this policy

If you take a period of Carer's Leave under this policy for any purpose other than to care or arrange care for your dependant, you may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

Every day is a learning day and we encourage you to get out there and learn something new. We can and will support your learning where possible.

You will have regular performance reviews with your line manager to discuss your current performance and to plan your development. If there is an area you are particularly passionate about and would love to learn more, please speak to your line manager or HR.

People Development Reviews

We want to change the culture and make our People Appraisal System a regular practice that provides value for everyone, something that is looked forward to rather than dreaded and is considered a valuable Management and People Development Tool.

The Company aims to conduct regular People Development Reviews with all team members. This is a 1:1 meeting with your line manager to review and provide constructive feedback on your performance to date and gives you a chance to discuss your work/progress and future plans. This is also an opportunity to discuss any concerns you may have and discuss solutions to these. We would, however, encourage you to speak to your line manager, a member of the Senior Management Team or a Director at any time about ideas / problems to put solutions in place as quickly as possible

Personal Calls and Mobile Telephones

Personal mobile telephones should only be used during your scheduled breaks and not used during working hours.

We accept that there will be occasions when you may need to make and receive personal phone calls during working hours. This should however be kept to a minimum and when strictly necessary. We would encourage you to speak to your line manager to discuss any circumstances where this may be necessary, so that appropriate arrangements can be considered.

Incoming personal calls should be made to your personal number and not to a work landline or mobile.

If it is found you are making or receiving excessive personal calls without prior management approval, this will be discussed with you.

If you choose to, and have been authorised to use any Company business applications on your personal device, please be aware that the Company is not liable for any damage to your personal device if used for, or during, working hours. This clearly does not apply where the Company has provided mobile telephones for business use.

Professional standards

We have standards of professional conduct and acceptable behaviour in the workplace. We do not tolerate disrespect, negative or disruptive attitudes or bad manners to your colleagues or any other team members across the company.

By acting in manner which may be considered unacceptable, this could lead to disciplinary action where, after discussion and understanding of the acceptable standards are raised, they are still not adhered to .

We expect all staff to:

- work co-operatively with others in order to achieve objectives;
- manage performance in an appropriate and fair manner;
- give and receive constructive feedback as part of normal day-to-day work. Such feedback should be evidence-based and delivered in an appropriate manner;
- consider other people's perspectives in order to help reach agreement;
- establish good working relationships; and
- act in a professional manner with your colleagues, customers and guests always.

Flexibility

You may be required to work additional hours at short notice, in accordance with the needs of the business.

You may also be required to undertake duties outside your normal job remit and to work at locations other than your normal place of work.

Working Between Parks

It is the Company's policy to train our team in as many aspects of our business as possible and practicable, therefore, all roles are offered on the understanding that you may be employed in any part of the business and on occasion, at another location.

The principal place of work for each employee will be the park to which they are contracted to work. From time to time, on a temporary basis and at the request of management it may be necessary for you to work from another location within a reasonable geographical / travelling area.

If you are required to work permanently at another location, any such change will be discussed in advance and will only be effected after reasonable consultation and agreement with you.

In exceptional circumstances where the Company has been subject to an event that necessitates the implementation of the Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery plan you may be required, for a period of time, to work flexibly and outside of your core hours. The place of work, in such circumstances, may also vary until such time as normal working conditions have been restored. This can include dealing with severe inclement weather conditions for the benefit of our guests/customers.

Where you incur travelling expenses over and above normal levels, reimbursement will be considered on an individual case by case basis.

Confidentiality

You must keep confidential, except as required by law, both during your employment and at any time after its termination, all information gained in the course of your employment about the Company and that of all persons and organisations connected to the Company.

Conduct while representing the Company

As a general rule, behaviour outside of normal working hours is a personal matter and does not directly concern the Company. However, there are some exceptions to this rule. The Company will become involved when incidents occur:

- at office parties or other work related social occasions or gatherings
- at social occasions or gatherings organised by a third party, where you have been invited in your capacity as a representative of the Company
- at work related conferences
- while working away on business on behalf of the Company

On these occasions you are expected to behave in an appropriate and responsible manner, keeping in mind that you are representing the Company. You are instructed specifically not to consume any alcohol at such events where you are driving.

If your conduct brings the Company into disrepute you will be subject to the Company's disciplinary procedure. Such behaviour may be viewed as a gross misconduct offence and could render you liable to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal without notice.

Guest Interaction

We encourage our teams to provide our customers and guests with a high level of customer service. However, we ask you to be conscious of the line between staff, customers and guests. We each have a responsibility to positively represent the Company, regardless of whether we are at work or off-duty.

It is important that all interactions with our customers and guests are professional and conscientious. As a Company Ambassador, it is considered inappropriate for you to:

- invite any customers, guests or suppliers to visit your Company accommodation;
- accept a customer or guest's invitation to join them in their accommodation, holiday home, pod, tourer or tent;
- accept money from a customer or guest or any gift over the value of £5.00, please see the Anti Bribery & Corruption Policy and Gifts & Hospitality Policy;
- drink excessively on Company premises while off duty, particularly if in the presence of customers or guests;
- enter into a relationship of any nature with a customer or guest which could be considered anything other than professional. Where a relationship begins to develop you should speak to your line manager as early as possible;
- share any knowledge regarding the Company's operation with our customers or guests that may then be detrimental to the business, being particularly mindful when in a social situation;
- allow customers or guests access to any staff areas that would normally be off limits without prior Management authority; and / or
- carry out any Park Jobs for customers that should have otherwise been completed by the Company, whether in return for payment or as a favour, and regardless of if during working or your own free time.

These rules are in place for the benefit of both you and the Company, as breaching this boundary can leave you in a vulnerable or compromising position, something to be avoided at all costs.

Outside activities and other employment

You are not permitted to engage in any activity outside your employment with the Company that could reasonably be interpreted as competing with the Company.

You are required to seek permission from management before taking on any other employment while employed by the Company unless you are on a zero hours contract.

Health and Safety

It is your duty and responsibility to familiarise yourself with, and to comply with, the Company or any third party's health and safety policies and procedures. Breach of these rules may result in disciplinary action, up to and including the termination of your employment without notice for gross misconduct.

You must report all accidents, however minor, as soon as possible, making a comprehensive entry in the Company's Accident Book.

Smoking

In accordance with smoking legislation and in order to provide a working environment which is pleasant and healthy, smoking (including the use of e-cigarettes and vaping devices) is not permitted anywhere on Company premises (except where specified by management).

When on duty, smoking (including vaping) is only permitted during designated rest breaks, within designated areas and must not be done in sight of guests/customers.

Where you are provided with accommodation under an occupancy licence or otherwise, you are not permitted to smoke or vape inside these premises at any time.

You must not smoke in any vehicle provided by the Company at any time.

Dress and appearance

Your personal appearance makes an important contribution to the Company's reputation and image. For this reason, it is important that your dress and appearance is professional and reflects the environment in which you work.

You will be expected to comply with any management instructions concerning dress and appearance.

Property and equipment

You are not permitted to make use of Company or a third party's telephone, fax, postal or other services for personal purposes.

You must not remove property or equipment from Company or a third party's premises unless for use on authorised business or with the permission of management.

Where you damage property belonging to the Company either through misuse or carelessness, the Company reserves the right to make a deduction from your pay in respect of the damaged property.

On termination of your employment you must return all Company property, such as keys, laptops, mobile telephones, Company vehicles, documents or any other items belonging to the Company.

Clear desk policy

To improve the security and confidentiality, you are required to ensure that when your workstation is unoccupied you take all necessary steps to clear your work station of any sensitive and confidential information.

This ensures that all sensitive and confidential information, whether it be on paper, a storage device, or a hardware device, is properly locked away or disposed of when a workstation is not in use. This policy will reduce the risk of unauthorized access, data protection breaches, loss of, and damage to information during and outside of normal business hours or when workstations are left unattended.

Whenever a desk is unoccupied for an extended period of time the following will apply:

- All sensitive and confidential paperwork must be removed from the desk and locked in a drawer or filing cabinet. This includes mass storage devices such as CDs, DVDs, and USB drives;
- All waste paper which contains sensitive or confidential information must be placed in the designated confidential waste bins. Under no circumstances should this information be placed in regular waste paper bins;
- Computer workstations must be locked when the desk is unoccupied and completely shut down at the end of the work day;
- Laptops, tablets, and other hardware devices must be removed from the desk and locked in a drawer or filing cabinet;
- Keys for accessing drawers or filing cabinets should not be left unattended at a desk.

Printers and fax machines should be treated with the same care.

Personal searches

The Company may reasonably request to search your clothing, personal baggage, personal storage areas or vehicles. An authorised person must conduct any such search in the presence of an independent witness. Should you refuse such a request, the Company will require the appropriate authorities to conduct the search on behalf of the Company. Failure to co-operate with the Company in this respect may be treated as gross misconduct.

Personal property

You are solely responsible for the safety of your personal possessions on Company premises and should ensure that your personal possessions are kept in a safe place at all times. If you find an item of lost property on the premises, you are required to inform management immediately.

Environment

In order to provide a cost-effective service, you are requested to use Company equipment, materials and services efficiently. You should try to reduce wastage and the subsequent impact on the environment by ensuring that you close windows, avoid using unnecessary lighting or heating or leaving taps running, switch off equipment when it is not in use and handle all materials with care.

Meetings

The Company will normally arrange for summary minutes to be taken at any formal meeting. It is not the policy of the Company to record meetings by any other means (e.g. digital, audio recording and photographs). You (or any party accompanying you) must not record any meeting without the express permission of the Company in advance. Where a meeting is to be recorded then parties must agree to it in advance. If requested, a copy of the minutes/recording will be provided (in line with data protection principles).

Monetary Transactions

You may only handle cash or receive payments on behalf of the Company where you are specifically authorised to do so.

You are responsible for all monetary transactions that you handle. Should the Company suffer any loss through your negligence then the loss shall be deducted from your pay in accordance with the provisions of the Employment Rights Act 1996.

You should not accept cash or any payments on behalf of any other third party.

Warden Accommodation

Some employees are required to live on the Park where they work as this is contractually necessary for the proper performance and execution of duties. For example, an occupancy licence is given for the role of Park Warden, although the post holder may carry out other functions as well as that of Warden.

It is essential that where this applies you recognise and fully understand that an occupancy licence is tied to your job with the Company. For the avoidance of doubt, this means if you resign from your post, you automatically relinquish the occupancy licence. Likewise, should you wish to leave the accommodation provided (to ensure you can fulfil your duties), this means you are terminating your employment as it is a critical contractual component of your role that you reside on the Park.

No charge is agreed to be made for the accommodation, but you will be responsible for all utility costs. The accommodation provided does NOT provide a residential address for the purposes of council tax, voting etc and you must maintain an alternative address for this purpose.

Where this applies, it is essential that you recognise and fully understand the details of the occupancy licence issued to you and that you are bound by the details within. You should speak to your line manager in the first instance if you have any questions at all.

Staff Discounts and Referral Schemes

From time to time the Company may operate staff discounts and referral incentive schemes.

These are reviewed annually and the Company reserves the right to review, change and withdraw the terms at any time. Details of any schemes in place can be found www.woodleisure.co.uk/news-site

Breach of this policy

A breach of the Company's standards of behaviour is likely to result in disciplinary action being taken.

Data Protection

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors.

This policy details your rights and obligations in relation to your personal data and the personal data of third parties that you may come into contact with during the course of your work.

"Personal data" is any information that relates to a living individual who can be identified from that information.

"Processing" is any use that is made of personal data, including collecting, storing, amending, disclosing or destroying it.

"Special categories of personal data" means information about an individual's racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or political beliefs, trade union membership, health, sex life or sexual orientation and biometric data.

"Criminal records data" means information about an individual's criminal convictions and offences and information relating to criminal allegations and proceedings.

If you have access to the personal, special categories or criminal records data of staff or of third parties, you must comply with this Policy. Failure to comply with the Policy and procedures may result in disciplinary action up to and including dismissal without notice.

Data Protection principles

The Company processes HR-related personal data in accordance with the following data protection principles:

- the Company processes personal data lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner;
- the Company collects personal data only for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes;
- the Company processes personal data only where it is adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary for the purposes of the processing;
- the Company keeps accurate personal data and takes all reasonable steps to ensure that inaccurate personal data is rectified or deleted without delay;
- the Company retains personal data only for the period necessary for the processing;
- the Company adopts appropriate measures to make sure that personal data is secure and is protected against unauthorised or unlawful processing and from accidental loss, destruction or damage.

Your entitlements

Data protection legislation prescribes the way in which the Company may collect, retain and handle personal data. The Company will comply with the requirements of data protection legislation and anyone who handles personal data in the course of their work must also comply with it.

The Company will inform individuals of the reasons for processing their personal data, how it uses such data and the legal basis for processing in its privacy notices. It will not process personal data about individuals for other reasons.

Where the Company processes special categories of personal data or criminal records data to perform obligations or to exercise rights in employment law, this is done in accordance with the rules relating to special categories of data and criminal records data.

The Company will update HR-related personal data promptly if an individual advises that their information has changed or is inaccurate.

Personal data gathered during the employment or engagement of an employee, worker, contractor, volunteer, or intern is held in the individual's personal file (in hard copy or electronic format, or both), and on HR systems. The periods for which the Company holds HR-related personal data are contained in its privacy notices.

Access to your personal data [subject access requests]

You have the right to make a subject access request. If you make such a request, the Company will tell you:

- whether or not your data is processed and if so why; the categories of personal data concerned and the source of the data if it is not collected from you;
- to whom your data may be disclosed, including any recipients located outside the UK and the safeguards that apply to any such transfers;
- for how long your personal data is stored or how that period is decided;
- your rights to rectification or erasure of data, or to restrict or object to processing;
- your right to complain to the Information Commissioner if you think the Company has failed to comply with your data protection rights; and
- whether or not the Company carries out any automated decision-making and the logic involved in such decision-making.

The Company will also provide you with a copy of the personal data undergoing processing. This will normally be in electronic form if you have made the request electronically, unless you request otherwise.

If you want additional copies, the Company will charge a fee, which will be based on the administrative cost of providing the additional copies.

Other rights

You have a number of other rights in relation to your personal data. You can require the Company to:

- rectify inaccurate data;
- stop processing or erase data if your interests override the Company's legitimate grounds for processing data (where the Company relies on its legitimate interests as a lawful basis for processing data);
- stop processing or erase data if it is unlawful; and
- stop processing data for a period if it is inaccurate or if there is a dispute about whether or not your interests override the Company's legitimate interests for processing the data.

Your responsibilities

You are responsible for helping the Company keep your personal data accurate and up to date. You should let the Company know if personal data provided to the Company changes, for example, if you change bank or move house.

You may have access to the personal data of other individuals and of our customers or clients in the course of your employment, contract, volunteer period, internship or apprenticeship. Where this is the case, the Company relies on you to help meet its data protection obligations.

If you have access to personal data, you are required:

- to access only data that you have authority to access and only for authorised purposes;
- not to disclose data except to individuals (whether inside or outside the Company) who have appropriate authorisation;

- to keep data secure (for example by complying with rules on access to premises, computer access including password protection, and secure file storage and destruction);
- not to remove personal data or devices containing or that can be used to access personal data, from the Company's premises without adopting appropriate security measures (such as encryption or password protection) to secure the data and the device; and
- not to store personal data on local drives or on personal devices that are used for work purposes.

Failure to observe these requirements may amount to a disciplinary offence which will be dealt with under the Company's disciplinary procedure. Significant or deliberate breaches of this policy, such as accessing employee, customer or client data without authorisation or a legitimate reason to do so, may constitute gross misconduct and could lead to your dismissal without notice.

Processing special categories and criminal records data

The Company will process special categories and criminal records data primarily where it is necessary to enable the Company to meet its legal obligations and in particular to ensure adherence to health and safety legislation; vulnerable groups protection legislation; or for equal opportunities monitoring purposes.

Procedure

The Company keeps a record of its processing activities in respect of HR-related personal data in accordance with the requirements of data protection legislation.

Personal data relating to staff may be collected by the Company for the purposes of:

- making a decision about your recruitment or appointment;
- determining the terms on which you work for us;
- checking you are legally entitled to work in the UK;
- paying you and, if you are an employee, deducting tax and National Insurance contributions;
- liaising with your pension provider;
- administering the contract we have entered into with you;
- business management and planning, including accounting and auditing;
- conducting performance reviews, managing performance and determining performance requirements;
- making decisions about salary reviews and compensation;
- assessing qualifications for a particular job or task, including decisions about promotions;
- gathering evidence for possible grievance or disciplinary hearings;
- making decisions about your continued employment or engagement;
- making arrangements for the termination of our working relationship;
- education, training and development requirements;
- dealing with possible legal disputes involving you, or other employees, workers and contractors, including accidents at work;
- ascertaining your fitness to work;
- managing sickness absence;

- complying with health and safety obligations;
- to prevent fraud;
- to monitor your use of our information and communication systems to ensure compliance with our policies;
- to ensure network and information security, including preventing unauthorised access to our computer and electronic communications systems and preventing malicious software distribution;
- to record digital meetings to allow replay or storage;
- to conduct data analytics studies to review and better understand employee retention and attrition rates, and
- equal opportunities monitoring

Some of the above grounds for processing will overlap and there may be several grounds which justify our use of your personal information.

How we use special categories and criminal records data

"Special categories" data and "criminal records" data require higher levels of protection. We need to have further justification for collecting, storing and processing these types of personal data. We may process special categories or criminal records data in the following circumstances:

- in limited circumstances, with your explicit written consent;
- where we need to carry out our legal obligations;
- where it is needed in the public interest, such as for equal opportunities monitoring, or in relation to our occupational pension scheme;
- where it is needed to assess your working capacity on health grounds.

Less commonly, we may process this type of data where it is needed in relation to legal claims or where it is needed to protect your vital interests (or someone else's interests) and you are not capable of giving your consent, or where you have already made the information public.

Accuracy of personal data

The Company will review personal data regularly to ensure that it is accurate, relevant and up to date.

To ensure the Company's files are accurate and up to date, and so that the Company is able to contact you or, in the case of an emergency, another designated person, you must notify the Company as soon as possible of any change in your personal details (e.g. change of name, address, telephone number, loss of driving licence where relevant, next of kin details, etc).

Security of personal data

The Company will ensure that personal data is not processed unlawfully, lost or damaged. If you have access to personal data during the course of your employment, you must also comply with this obligation. If you believe you have lost any personal data in the course of your work, you must report it to your manager immediately. Failure to do so may result in disciplinary action up to and including dismissal without notice.

Data breaches

The Company will record all data breaches regardless of their effect.

If we discover that there has been a breach of HR-related personal data that poses a risk to the rights and freedoms of individuals, we will report it to the Information Commissioner within 72 hours of discovery.

If the breach is likely to result in a high risk to the rights and freedoms of individuals, we will tell affected individuals that there has been a breach and provide them with information about the likely consequences of the breach and the mitigation measures we have taken.

Access to personal data ["subject access requests"]

To make a subject access request, you should send your request to the Company. In some cases, the Company may need to ask for proof of identification before the request can be processed. We will inform you if we need to verify your identity and the documents we require.

We will normally respond to a request within one month from the date we receive it. In some cases, such as where the Company processes large amounts of the individual's data, we may respond within three months of the date the request is received. We will write to the individual within one month of receiving the original request to tell them if this is the case.

If a subject access request is manifestly unfounded or excessive, the Company is not obliged to comply with it. Alternatively, we can agree to respond but will charge a fee, which will be based on the administrative cost of responding to the request. A subject access request is likely to be manifestly unfounded or excessive where it repeats a request to which we have already responded. If you submit a request that is unfounded or excessive, we will notify you that this is the case and whether or not we will respond to it.

Disciplinary Policy and Procedure

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees only.

This policy is designed to ensure that all disciplinary matters are dealt with promptly, fairly and consistently and to encourage an improvement in individual conduct and/or performance. It outlines the procedures that the Company will follow should there be a need to take disciplinary action and your right to appeal.

The Company reserves the right to discipline or dismiss you without following the Disciplinary Procedure if you:

- are an employee with less than 24 months' continuous service; or
- are engaged as a worker.

Your entitlements and responsibilities

The Company aims to deal with disciplinary matters promptly and fairly.

You have the right to appeal against a decision the Company makes at a disciplinary meeting. In these cases, the Company will make every effort for the appeal to be dealt with by a different manager to the person who dealt with the matter initially.

The Company's decision at the appeal stage is final and there is no further right of appeal.

You have a responsibility to assist the Company, if required, to investigate the matters raised at disciplinary meetings and comply with the disciplinary procedures.

Disciplinary sanctions

The level of the disciplinary sanction, if any, will be determined by the severity of the offence. The Company will normally select one of the following:

Written warning

A Written Warning will usually be applied as the first step of corrective action following unsatisfactory performance or conduct offences.

The Company will define the unacceptable acts and explain the conduct or standards required in the future. You will be advised in writing that a failure to improve the standard of conduct or performance may result in further disciplinary action. A time limit will be placed on the warning.

Final written warning

A Final Written Warning is usually applied after a Written Warning has been given and performance or conduct has not improved but may be applied after a more serious first or a second offence.

You will be advised in writing that a failure to improve the standard of conduct or performance may result in dismissal. A time limit will be placed on the warning.

Dismissal

Dismissal occurs when your employment is terminated either with or without notice. Dismissal without notice is also referred to as 'summary dismissal' and is restricted to cases of gross misconduct.

The Company reserves the right, at its complete discretion, to impose a sanction short of dismissal if it is deemed appropriate. This may include demotion, transfer to a different post or another appropriate sanction. Any such decision will be confirmed to you in writing once you have been informed of the outcome.

Disciplinary procedure

Suspension from work

If the Company believes it is appropriate, it may decide to suspend you from your work pending further investigation or disciplinary action. Suspension itself is not a disciplinary sanction.

If a decision to suspend is made, you will be informed verbally and this will usually be followed up in writing. While you are suspended, you should not attend work or make contact with anyone connected to the Company unless otherwise instructed by the Company. If you need to contact anyone connected to the Company while you are suspended, you must notify your manager. Any reasonable request will not be refused. Breach of the terms of your suspension may result in additional disciplinary action up to and including dismissal without notice.

The Company will endeavour to keep any suspension as brief as possible. Any period of suspension will normally be on full pay. However, should you fail to co-operate at any time with the investigatory process, for example by failing to attend any meeting, without good reason then the Company reserves the right to treat this as unauthorised absence and this may result in pay being withheld until such time as you attend any rearranged meeting.

Your entitlement to pay if you fall sick during a period of suspension will be in accordance with the Sick Pay policy.

Investigation Meetings

Depending on the circumstances, you may be required to attend Investigation Meetings before a decision is taken to invoke the disciplinary procedure. An Investigation Meeting is an informal meeting and so you are not permitted to be accompanied unless you are under the age of 18 (when a parent or guardian will be permitted).

You must notify and obtain the consent of all those present at the meeting if you intend to record it.

Depending on the outcome of the investigation, the Company will decide whether or not to proceed with a Disciplinary Meeting.

If it is decided that there is no case to answer then you will be informed of this fact either verbally or in writing. You will be expected to return to work at the agreed date and time. This will end the process.

Recording meetings

The Company will normally arrange for summary minutes to be taken at any formal meeting. It is not the policy of the Company to record meetings by any other means (e.g. digital, audio recording and photographs). You (or any party accompanying you) must not record any meeting without the express permission of the Company in advance. Where a meeting is to be recorded then parties must agree to it in advance. If requested, a copy of the minutes/recording will be provided (in line with data protection principles).

Invitation to a Disciplinary Meeting

If you are required to attend a Disciplinary Meeting, the Company will inform you of this in writing.

In the letter, the Company will set out the issues that are to be considered, how seriously these are being viewed, the potential consequences and details of any intention to call witnesses. The letter will also inform you of the date and time of the meeting to allow you sufficient time to prepare your case.

As this is a formal meeting, the letter will also detail your right to be accompanied.

Your right to be accompanied at a Disciplinary Meeting

You are entitled to be accompanied at a Disciplinary Meeting by a fellow worker or a trade union official. With the exception of those under the age of 18, when a parent or guardian will be permitted, no other person will be permitted to attend.

Should you wish to be accompanied, you must notify the Company of the name and position of your chosen companion as soon as possible.

Your companion is permitted to put forward and summarise your case, respond on your behalf to views expressed in the meeting, ask questions and confer with you, but will not be entitled to answer questions directly on your behalf.

Action if you cannot attend the meeting on the proposed date

If you feel that you have a legitimate reason as to why you cannot attend the meeting on the proposed date, you must contact the person named on the invitation letter to advise them of this fact immediately. The meeting may then be delayed to facilitate your attendance, if this is considered reasonable.

Attending the disciplinary meeting

You must attend the meeting at the proposed time. Failure to participate in the process or attend arranged meetings without good reason may result in additional disciplinary action or a decision being made in your absence.

Prior to the meeting, you should ensure that you are fully prepared to answer questions relating to the incident/circumstances in question. At the meeting you will be given every opportunity to state your case, present any evidence and call relevant witnesses before any decision is made.

You must notify and obtain the consent of all those present at the meeting if you intend to record it.

After the Disciplinary Meeting

At the end of the meeting there will normally be an adjournment to allow for consideration of the facts. You will be informed of the outcome and any sanction will be confirmed in writing to you as soon as possible.

In some circumstances there may be a need to adjourn and reconvene a meeting at a later date, to allow further investigation. In this case you will be advised accordingly.

Notification of the decision and disciplinary sanction

Following the Disciplinary Meeting, the Company will notify you of its decision and the disciplinary sanction it will apply. This letter will also explain your right to appeal against any decision taken and sanction applied.

Your right of appeal against disciplinary action

If you wish to appeal against a decision you must submit your request in writing, stating the reasons for the appeal, to the individual identified in the letter confirming the sanction. This should be submitted within five working days of receiving notification.

The Appeal Meeting

You will be informed of the date and time of the Appeal Meeting. If you feel that you have a legitimate reason as to why you cannot attend the meeting on the proposed date, you must contact the person named on the invitation letter to inform them of this fact immediately. The meeting may then be delayed to facilitate your attendance, if this is considered reasonable. You will be entitled to be accompanied by a fellow worker or a Trade Union official.

You must notify and obtain the consent of all those present at the meeting if you intend to record it.

At the Appeal Meeting you will be given an opportunity to state your case. Your companion is permitted to put forward and summarise your case, respond on your behalf to views expressed in the meeting, ask questions and confer with you, but will not be entitled to answer questions directly on your behalf.

The meeting will then be adjourned to allow the Company to consider the facts and the decision will be confirmed in writing. The outcome will be communicated as soon as possible, taking into account the complexity of the issues raised in the appeal. The decision at this stage will be final.

Fertility Treatment

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees. It does not apply to workers, contractors, consultants or any self-employed individuals working for the Company.

This policy sets out the time off that we grant to those who are undergoing fertility treatment and explains the support available to you.

We are committed to providing an environment where staff feel supported. We recognise the physical and emotional stress that having fertility treatment can have on you and are genuinely committed to providing support where we can.

Your entitlements

It is Company policy to grant up to three days' unpaid leave in any one year to an employee to undergoing fertility treatment. This applies equally to an employee whose partner is undergoing fertility treatment.

If you require time off beyond the permitted number of days, you may request annual holiday entitlement by following the procedures to request holidays set out in the Annual Holiday Policy.

Any information provided to your line manager and the Company will be maintained in strict confidence.

Procedures

All leave requests and requirements will be considered, considering both your needs and those of the business at the time of the request. Therefore, early discussions with your line manager can be really beneficial.

If you wish to take advantage of this entitlement you must:

- speak to your line manager as soon as your plans to undergo fertility treatment have been confirmed, or earlier if you feel able to do so;
- provide a statement from a qualified medical practitioner that fertility treatment has been recommended and approved;
- submit all leave requests in writing to your line manager, accompanied by evidence you are undergoing a course of treatment and an appointment card for each occasion time off is requested;
- arrange appointments at times that will cause the minimum amount of inconvenience to the business; and
- give as much notice as possible of the days on which time off is required.

If you choose to request annual leave instead of this unpaid leave, you must do so in accordance with normal holiday leave requests.

Any information provided to your line manager will be maintained in strict confidence.

Flexible Working

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees only.

The Company recognises that you may be interested in reducing your working hours, working from home or changing working patterns.

This policy outlines who is eligible to make a formal flexible working request, the procedure that should be followed and the issues that will be taken into account when deciding whether to agree to the request.

The Company will make every effort to accommodate requests for flexible working, provided that your duties can still be carried out effectively.

Your entitlements

Eligibility for flexible working

You are eligible to make a maximum of two flexible working requests in a 12-month period.

Procedure

Where you are considering making an application to the Company in terms of this policy you have a responsibility to think carefully about your desired working pattern before making an application.

Making an application

You are permitted to make two formal applications in a 12-month period, which runs from the date when the application was made.

Applications must be made in writing and submitted to your manager. An application will be considered to have been made on the day that it was received by the Company.

For an application to be considered by the Company, you must:

- set out the date of the application, the change to working conditions that you are seeking and when you would like the change to come into effect; and
- state that this is a statutory request and whether a previous application has been made to the Company and, if so, when it was made.

If you fail to provide this information, the Company reserves the right to ask you to re-submit the application. An application may not be considered unless this information is completed and submitted in full.

You may have only one live request for flexible working with the Company at any one time. Once your request has been made, it remains live until any of the following occur:

- a decision about your request is made by the Company;
- your request is withdrawn;
- an outcome is mutually agreed;
- the statutory two-month period for deciding your request ends.

A request continues to be live during any appeal or any extension to the statutory two-month decision period that you have agreed with the Company.

To help the Company consider the request please also provide details of the reasons for your application.

How your application will be considered

Unless your manager intends to approve the request straight away, they will arrange to meet with you. The proposed changes will be considered in light of the impact on the Company financially, from a service viewpoint and in terms of the impact upon colleagues, as well as other practical considerations.

The meeting provides an opportunity to explore the desired work pattern in depth and to discuss how best it might be accommodated. It will also provide an opportunity to consider other alternative working patterns, should there be difficulties in accommodating the desired work pattern outlined in your application. You can be accompanied by a work colleague or a trade union official at this meeting.

If the application for flexible working is granted, it will mean a permanent change to your own terms and conditions of employment. Accordingly, it will be important that, before making an application, you give careful consideration to:

- any financial implications it might have on you in cases where the desired working pattern will involve a drop in salary; and
- any effects it will have on the Company and how these might be addressed.

The Company's response

Following the meeting your manager will write to you to either:

- confirm the details of the agreed contract variation and the date from which it shall take effect;

Or

- provide clear business grounds as to why the application cannot be accepted and setting out your right to appeal.

Business reasons for which the Company may reject your request are:

- the burden of additional costs;
- detrimental effect on its ability to meet customer demand;
- inability to reorganise work among existing employees;
- inability to recruit additional employees;
- detrimental impact on quality;
- detrimental impact on performance;
- insufficiency of work during the periods that you propose to work;
- planned changes.

There may also be occasions on which the Company will need further time to consider an application or to put in place other arrangements before notifying you of the final decision. Accordingly, all time periods can be extended by agreement.

Appealing if your application is refused

If you wish to appeal against a decision, you must submit your request in writing to the individual identified in the letter confirming the outcome, no later than the end of the fifth working day after you have been notified in writing of the decision.

You will be informed of the date and time of the subsequent appeal. If you cannot attend on this day, you must contact the person named on the invitation letter to inform them of this fact. You can be accompanied by a work colleague or a trade union official at this meeting.

After the appeal meeting, the Company shall write to you notifying you of the decision reached. This decision will be final.

All requests, including any appeals, will be considered and decided on within a period of two months from first receipt, unless an extension of this time period has been agreed with you.

Grievance

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees and workers.

A grievance is any concern, problem or complaint that you have in relation to your employment.

Where possible, you should try to settle any grievance informally with your manager at the earliest opportunity. Where any grievance is unable to be resolved informally, this policy sets out the Company's Grievance Procedure.

Your responsibilities

You have a responsibility to raise any grievances promptly and reasonably, assist the Company, if required, in any investigation of the matters raised in your grievance, follow the grievance procedure and attend all meetings arranged under it.

You may raise grievances either informally or formally. If you raise a grievance informally first, you may still raise the grievance formally subsequently if it is not resolved to your satisfaction.

The Company aims to deal with all grievances promptly and impartially, and to make all reasonable efforts to achieve a satisfactory outcome.

You have the right to appeal against a decision the Company makes in respect of a grievance raised by you. In these cases, the Company will make every effort for the grievance to be dealt with by a different manager to the person who dealt with the grievance initially.

The Company's decision at the appeal stage is final and there is no further right of appeal.

Procedure

Dealing with grievances informally

If you have any grievance, you should discuss this with your manager in the first instance, who will then attempt to resolve the situation on an informal basis.

If you feel unable to approach your manager directly, you should approach another manager or a more senior member of the Company, who will discuss with you ways of dealing with the matter.

If attempts to resolve the matter informally do not work, it may be appropriate for you to raise a formal grievance under the following formal procedure.

Your right to be accompanied at Grievance Meetings

At all formal stages of this procedure, you are entitled to be accompanied by a fellow worker or by a trade union official. If you are under 18, your parent or guardian will be allowed to accompany you.

Should you wish to be accompanied, you must notify the Company of the name and position of your chosen companion as soon as possible.

Formal procedure

The Company will make all reasonable efforts to deal with formal grievances in a fair and consistent manner. While the Company will make every effort to settle any grievance within the time limits detailed in this procedure, this may not be possible on some occasions.

You must set out the nature of the grievance, and the full particulars of it, in writing. The written grievance should be submitted to your manager in the first instance, or to the person identified in your contract of employment. If your grievance is against your manager, you should submit it to another manager or a more senior member of the Company.

Attending the Grievance Meeting

You will be invited to a meeting to discuss the grievance, normally within five working days of the Company receiving your grievance. You must take all reasonable steps to attend this meeting.

Prior to the meeting, you should ensure that you are fully prepared to present your grievance, share any supporting evidence and answer any questions relating to the incident/circumstances in question.

You must notify and obtain the consent of all those present at the meeting if you intend to record it.

Notification of the outcome

After the Grievance Meeting, an appropriate period of time may be taken to allow for any further investigation and/or the consideration of all the facts before a decision is reached. The Company will then, normally, inform you in writing of its decision regarding the raised grievance without unreasonable delay. The letter will also explain your right to appeal against any decision taken.

Recording of meetings

The Company will normally arrange for summary minutes to be taken at any formal meeting. It is not the policy of the Company to record meetings by any other means (e.g. digital, audio recording and photographs). You (or any party accompanying you) must not record any meeting without the express permission of the Company in advance. Where a meeting is to be recorded then parties must agree to it in advance. If requested, a copy of the minutes/recording will be provided (in line with data protection principles).

Appeals against grievance outcomes

If you are dissatisfied with a decision made regarding a grievance you have raised, you have the right of appeal. Whenever possible, the appeal will be dealt with by a different manager to the person who dealt with the grievance.

Your appeal must be made in writing, stating the reasons for the appeal, to the individual identified in the decision letter. This should be submitted no later than the end of the fifth working day after you received written notification.

The Appeal Meeting

The Company will arrange and hold an Appeal Meeting as quickly as possible, normally within five days. You will be entitled to attend the Appeal Meeting and will be given an opportunity to state your case.

You must take all reasonable steps to attend this meeting. If you feel that you have a legitimate reason as to why you cannot attend the meeting on the proposed date, you must contact the person named on the invitation letter to inform them of this fact immediately. The meeting may then be delayed to facilitate your attendance, if this is considered reasonable.

You must notify and obtain the consent of all those present at the meeting if you intend to record it.

Harassment and Bullying

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors and covers bullying & harassment of anyone in the workplace. The workplace includes normal business premises, client sites or any work-related setting (including locations for training and work-related social events). This policy also applies to virtual settings and social media where deemed to be work-related.

As part of the Company's overall commitment to equality of opportunity, it is fully committed to promoting a fair and harmonious working environment in which everyone is treated with respect and dignity and in which no individual feels bullied, threatened or intimidated. The aim of this policy is to prevent harassment and bullying in the workplace which includes harassment and bullying by other workers or by third parties you encounter while doing your job.

The Company has a zero-tolerance policy toward any form of harassment or bullying in the workplace. Such behaviour is unacceptable and will not be permitted or condoned, and will be viewed as a gross misconduct offence which may result in dismissal without notice.

What is harassment and bullying?

Harassment and bullying detract from a productive working environment and can impact on the health, confidence, morale and performance of those affected by it, including anyone who witnesses or has knowledge of the unwanted or unacceptable behaviour.

Definition of harassment

Harassment is any unwanted physical, verbal or non-verbal conduct based on sex, sexual orientation, marital or civil partnership status, gender reassignment, religion or belief, age, race or disability which affects the dignity of anyone at work or creates an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment.

A single incident of unwanted or offensive behaviour can amount to harassment. Some examples are given below, but many forms of behaviour can constitute harassment. These examples are:

- physical conduct, ranging from touching, pushing or grabbing to punching or serious assault
- verbal or written harassment through jokes, offensive language, defamatory remarks, gossip, threats or letters
- unwelcome sexual behaviour, including unwanted suggestions, propositions or advances
- the sending or displaying of material that is pornographic or obscene, including e-mails, text messages, video clips, photographs, posters, emblems or any other offensive material
- inappropriate posts or comments on or via social media commonly known as "cyber bullying"
- isolation, non-co-operation at work or exclusion from social activities
- coercion, including pressure for sexual favours
- inappropriate personal contact, including intrusion by pestering or spying

It should be noted that it is the impact of the behaviour that is relevant and not solely the motive or intent behind it.

Definition of bullying

Bullying is persistent, offensive, abusive, intimidating or insulting behaviour, which, through the abuse of power, makes the recipient feel upset, threatened, humiliated or vulnerable.

Bullying can be a form of harassment and can undermine an individual's self-confidence and self-esteem and cause them to suffer stress.

Bullying can take the form of physical, verbal and non-verbal conduct. As with harassment, there are many examples of bullying, which can include:

- shouting at or humiliating others
- high-handed or oppressive levels of supervision
- unjustified, offensive and/or insulting remarks about performance
- exclusion from meetings, events or communications without good cause
- physical or emotional threats

Bullying can occur in the workplace and outside of the workplace at events connected to the workplace, such as social functions or business trips.

Sexual harassment

Sexual harassment is unwanted conduct of a sexual nature which has the purpose or effect of violating a worker's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that worker.

The Company has a positive legal duty to prevent the sexual harassment of its workers.

Sexual harassment can take many forms and may occur in the workplace, outside of work, in person, over the phone or online.

Examples of sexual harassment include:

- persistent suggestions to meet up socially after a person has made clear that they do not welcome such suggestions
- suggestions of sexual activity
- unwanted physical contact or touching
- showing or sending offensive or sexual material by any method (e.g. by text, email or social media etc.)
- unwelcome sexual advances, suggestive behaviour or propositions
- offensive comments about appearance or dress, innuendo or lewd comments
- making sexually suggestive gestures
- spreading gossip and speculation about a person's sexual orientation or status, including spreading rumours.

The Company takes reasonable steps to proactively prevent sexual harassment of its staff in the workplace, including:

- providing appropriate training for workers and ensuring that this training is regularly refreshed
- undertaking appropriate workplace risk assessments to consider risks and control measures relating to sexual harassment
- ensuring that line managers understand their role in preventing and stopping bullying and harassment from occurring in the workplace

- encouraging and welcoming concerns and complaints being raised where individuals consider they have experienced or witnessed incidents of sexual harassment
- ensuring that concerns or complaints of sexual harassment are treated with sensitivity and care and addressed in a proper and thorough manner.

Your rights and responsibilities

Your rights

You have the right to work in an environment which is free from any form of harassment or bullying. The Company recognises your right to complain about harassment or bullying should it occur. All complaints will be dealt with seriously, promptly and confidentially.

Every effort will be made to ensure that, when you make a complaint, you will be protected from further acts of bullying and harassment. If others also give evidence or information in connection with the complaint, they equally will be protected. Perpetrators of these acts will be subject to disciplinary action which may warrant dismissal.

Your responsibilities

You have a responsibility to help ensure a working environment in which the dignity of everyone is respected. You must comply with this policy and you should ensure that your behaviour to colleagues and anyone connected to the Company, does not cause offence and could not in any way be considered to be harassment or bullying.

You should discourage harassment and bullying by making it clear that you find such behaviour unacceptable. You should also support colleagues who suffer such treatment and are considering making a complaint. You must alert a manager or supervisor immediately to any incident of harassment or bullying to enable the Company to deal with the matter promptly and effectively.

The Company's responsibilities

The Company will ensure that adequate resources are made available to promote respect and dignity in the workplace and to deal effectively with complaints of harassment and bullying. This policy and procedure will be communicated effectively to all and the Company will ensure that everyone is aware of their responsibilities. Appropriate training, where necessary, will be provided.

Procedure

In order to raise a complaint of harassment or bullying, please refer to the Company Grievance Procedure (outlined elsewhere in this Employee Handbook).

Maternity and Adoption Leave

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees. However, Statutory Maternity and Adoption Pay may be available to both employees and workers.

This policy outlines your statutory rights and responsibilities when you are pregnant, give birth or adopt a child. It also outlines the arrangements and notification requirements before, during and after a period of Maternity or Adoption Leave, your statutory entitlements to pay during your leave and your right to return to work following Maternity or Adoption Leave.

This policy also covers associated issues such as holidays.

This policy applies if a child is stillborn 24 weeks or more into the pregnancy as you will be entitled to statutory maternity leave and, if eligible, pay.

Entitlements and procedures that apply to Shared Parental Leave are contained in a separate policy in this Handbook.

Your entitlements

Time off for antenatal care

If you are pregnant, you have the right to take reasonable time off work, with pay, during your working hours to receive antenatal care, regardless of your length of service. This includes relaxation and/or parent craft classes, when this has been recommended on medical grounds by your registered medical practitioner or registered midwife.

The Company requires you to give reasonable notice when making a request to take time off for scheduled antenatal appointments. Prior to time off being authorised, you will also be required to provide a copy of your appointment card and/or medical certificate confirming your pregnancy, with the exception of your first appointment.

Time off for adoption appointments

If you intend to adopt a child, you are entitled to time off to attend adoption appointments. Adoption appointments refer to those which take place after you are notified that a child is to be placed with you for adoption or for a fostering for adoption placement and before the placement occurs.

The amount of time off (and any entitlement to pay) depends on whether you have elected to be the main adopter or are the partner of the main adopter. No request for time off will be unreasonably refused.

If you are the main adopter, you are entitled to time off to attend adoption appointments on up to five occasions. The maximum time off which can be taken on each occasion is six and a half hours. Time off will be paid at your normal rate of pay.

If you are the partner of the main adopter, you are entitled to time off to attend up to two adoption appointments. The maximum time off which can be taken on each occasion is six and a half hours. Time off is unpaid.

Different types of leave available

If you are pregnant or you have recently given birth, you are entitled to Maternity Leave.

If you adopt a child, either you or your partner will be entitled to Adoption Leave. Adoption leave can be taken by either partner adopting a child jointly, regardless of your gender. To obtain the benefit of these rights, you must comply with the qualifying conditions that are outlined below.

Where you meet the eligibility criteria, you are entitled to 52 weeks' Maternity or Adoption Leave, in order to care for a new baby or a newly adopted child who is up to 18 years of age.

Maternity and Adoption Leave is made up of 26 weeks' Ordinary Leave, followed by 26 weeks' Additional Leave. Additional Maternity Leave (AML) or Additional Adoption Leave (AAL) follows immediately after the end of your Ordinary Leave. There can be no gap between the two types of leave.

New mothers and adoptive parents have the right to transfer all, or part, of their AML or AAL entitlement to the other parent or to share Parental Leave. Further details can be found in the Paternity Leave policy and the Shared Parental Leave policy (outlined elsewhere in the Employee Handbook).

Compulsory Maternity Leave

When you give birth, you are legally compelled to take a minimum of two weeks' Maternity Leave immediately after giving birth. For health and safety reasons, new mothers who work in a factory have a longer minimum period of four weeks.

Benefits during Maternity or Adoption Leave

During Maternity or Adoption Leave, you are entitled to receive all your normal contractual benefits, including annual holiday entitlement, with the exception of your normal pay.

Statutory Maternity and Adoption Pay (SMP/SAP)

SMP and SAP are payable for up to 39 weeks.

The first six weeks are payable at the higher rate, which is the equivalent of 90% of your normal earnings. For SMP your normal earnings are calculated based on the eight-week period before the Qualifying Week, i.e. the 15th week before your expected week of childbirth. For SAP your normal earnings are calculated over the eight-week period ending with the week in which you are notified of having been matched with the child for adoption.

The remaining 33 weeks are payable at a standard rate for the relevant tax year and can change each year.

If your earnings are below the standard rate set by the Government, you will be paid at the equivalent of 90% of your average earnings in the eight-week period before the Qualifying Week or the date the child is matched.

If you do not qualify for SMP or SAP, you may be entitled to claim for an allowance of financial support by contacting your local benefits office.

Qualifying for SMP and SAP

To qualify for SMP or SAP you must:

- have average weekly earnings equal to or above the Lower Earnings Limit for National Insurance purposes during the eight-week period up to and including the Qualifying Week or the date you are matched with a child
- have been continuously employed for at least 26 weeks, ending with the 15th week before your expected week of childbirth (the 'Qualifying Week') or the date you are informed by the approved adoption agency, or the central authority, that you have been matched with a child
- (if you are pregnant) still be pregnant at the 11th week before your expected week of childbirth or have had the child by that time
- give the Company at least 28 days' notice (or, if that is not possible, as much notice as is reasonably practicable) of the day you would like your SMP or SAP to start
- provide the Company with the appropriate medical certification of your expected week of childbirth, normally using the medical certificate MAT B1, or provide a written declaration that you have chosen to receive SAP rather than Statutory Paternity Pay

Returning to work after Maternity or Adoption Leave

You do not need to give notice of your return to work if you simply return at the end of your Maternity or Adoption Leave period.

If you wish to return to work before the full entitlement of your Maternity or Adoption Leave has ended, or change your mind about the intended date of return to work, you must give the Company a minimum of eight weeks' notice of the intended date of your return.

In the event that you fail to give the required eight weeks' notice of an earlier date of return, the Company may postpone your return until the end of the eight weeks' notice you should have given, or until the end of the Maternity or Adoption Leave period, whichever is earlier.

You are entitled to return to your original job at the end of Ordinary Maternity or Adoption Leave. Where you take Additional Maternity or Adoption Leave, you are also entitled to return to your original job at the end of the Additional Leave. However, if this is not reasonably practicable, you will be offered a similar role on no less favourable terms and conditions.

You will not lose the right to return to work if you do not follow the correct notification procedures. However, the Company may take appropriate disciplinary action if you fail to return to work at the end of the Maternity or Adoption Leave period.

In the event that you are unable to return to work at the end of the Maternity or Adoption Leave due to ill health, the Company's normal sickness absence rules, procedures and payments will apply.

Holiday entitlement and Maternity or Adoption Leave

Annual holiday entitlement will continue to accrue during the whole of your Maternity or Adoption Leave. You must discuss and agree with the Company, in advance, when your accrued holiday entitlement can be taken.

Holiday entitlement cannot be taken simultaneously with Maternity or Adoption Leave. Accrued holiday can only be taken either before the beginning of the Leave or after the end of the Leave. Authorisation must be obtained from the Company in the normal way prior to your accrued holiday being taken.

Contact during Maternity or Adoption Leave

The Company may make reasonable contact with you during your Maternity or Adoption Leave. In addition, you may attend work during your Maternity or Adoption Leave, for a limited period, without affecting your Maternity or Adoption Leave. These days are referred to as Keeping in Touch days (see below).

Keeping in Touch (KIT) days

During your Maternity or Adoption Leave, you may work up to 10 days for the Company, during your Leave, without losing your right to your Maternity or Adoption Leave pay.

Any days worked will be paid at your normal rate of pay, and any SMP or SAP will be taken into account for these purposes.

Neither you nor the Company is under any obligation to agree to work or provide work for KIT days.

Procedures

Notification procedures for Maternity Leave

If you are pregnant and give birth to a child, you are entitled to take Maternity Leave. To be eligible, you must comply with the rules and procedures set out below:

- no later than the end of the 15th week before the week your child is due, you must give the Company notice of:
 - the fact that you are pregnant and the date on which you intend to start your Maternity Leave
 - the expected week of childbirth, which must be confirmed by providing the medical certificate MAT B1

Your Maternity Leave will automatically start if you are absent from work for a pregnancy-related illness during the four weeks before your expected week of childbirth.

Changing the start of your Maternity Leave

You may change your mind about when you want to start your Maternity Leave, as long as you notify the Company, in writing, of your new start date. You must give the Company the relevant notice by whichever date is the earlier of the following notice periods:

- 28 days before the date on which you originally intended to start your leave

Or

- 28 days before the new date on which you want to start your leave

Notification procedures for Adoption Leave

If you adopt a child, you are entitled to Adoption Leave. This right applies to both men and women.

The partner of an individual who adopts, or the other partner of a couple adopting a child jointly, may also be entitled to Paternity Leave and Statutory Paternity Pay.

If you are part of a couple that adopts a child, you can choose which partner will take Adoption Leave and which will take Paternity Leave. Either partner can choose the type of leave that applies to them.

To qualify for Adoption Leave, you must:

- be newly matched with a child for adoption by an approved adoption agency (this includes placement of a child with local authority foster parents who are prospective adopters under the fostering for adoption scheme)
- have notified the agency that you agree that the child should be placed with you and have agreed the date of placement
- notify the Company of when you want to take Adoption Leave no more than seven calendar days after being notified that you have been matched with a child
- in the case of surrogacy adoption leave, be in receipt of, or in the process of applying for, a parental order.

You should also give the Company the matching certificate from the approved adoption agency as evidence of your entitlement to Adoption Leave. Only one period of Adoption Leave will be available, irrespective of whether you have more than one child placed with you for adoption as part of the same arrangement.

Within 28 calendar days of you giving notice, the Company will respond in writing to you, confirming the date when your Adoption Leave will end. This will normally be 52 weeks from the start of the Adoption Leave.

You may choose to start your Adoption Leave either from;

- the date of the child's placement

Or

- a fixed date, which can be up to 14 calendar days before the expected date of the child's placement

Changing the start of your Adoption Leave

You may change your mind about when you want to start Adoption Leave, as long as you notify the Company, in writing, of your new start date. You must give the Company the relevant notice by whichever date is the earlier of the following notice periods;

- 28 days before the date you originally intended to start your leave or
- 28 days before the new date you want to start your leave

Overseas adoption

If you are adopting a child from overseas, you must have received official notification that the adoption has been approved by the central authority and give the Company notice, in writing, at each of the three notification stages.

The Company will require copies of official notification as evidence of the child arriving in the UK and to support your request to take Adoption Leave.

The procedures for overseas adoption are determined by the central authority and are thorough. In the first instance, you should discuss your intention to take Adoption Leave within 28 days of the date on which you received the official notification.

Meetings Conduct Policy

What this policy covers

This policy applies to all employees, workers and contractors.

The Company is committed to providing a safe, inclusive, and welcoming environment for all meetings where all participants may exchange ideas, learn and network in an environment of mutual respect. Virtual meetings (including video and conference calls) are an extension of the workplace.

Your responsibilities

You are required to comply with the Company's standards of behaviour at all workplace meetings.

As with anything, if you feel uncomfortable with something being discussed during a meeting, you should ask for the conversation to cease and for the issue to be addressed outside of the meeting.

Expected behaviour at all meetings

You should:

- exercise consideration and respect in your speech and actions including avoiding interruptions of other participants;
- request permission from the Company and attendees before recording or taking photographs during any meeting including web-based presentations;
- turn off any ringers or otherwise disrupting devices;
- be on time wherever possible; and
- ensure your standard of dress is appropriate to the meeting type.

Special considerations for virtual meetings

When in a virtual meeting environment you should:

- mute your side of the call if you are not speaking. Your microphone can pick up a lot of background noise, so muting allows others on the call to easily hear who is speaking;
- be aware of the fact that you cannot always see people's reactions compared to real world meetings;
- ensure your background and any objects in view are appropriate;
- where asking questions or making comments on screen ensure that you use appropriate business language;
- test out the meeting application in advance if you haven't used the meeting application before, or for a while;
- take a few seconds to prepare before you share your screen. Clear your desktop of any extra tabs or programs you may have open and make sure any private or sensitive information is hidden; and
- not allow anyone to witness the meeting without authorisation of the Company.

Virtual meeting fatigue

It is well recognised that there are several factors which cause fatigue for those who take part in a lot of virtual meetings. This is caused by:

- the impact of seeing yourself on the screen all the time;
- the amount of eye contact involved;
- the lack of nonverbal cues; and
- the lack of a natural range of movement. If you feel you are experiencing fatigue and this is affecting your Wellbeing, please speak to your line manager who will support you with adjustments.

Unacceptable behaviour

The following are examples of unacceptable behaviour at meetings but the list is not exhaustive:

- behaviour or speech that is intimidating, harassing, abusive, discriminatory, disruptive, derogatory or demeaning;
- offensive verbal or written comments or offensive non-verbal expressions/gestures;
- making shared content public without authorisation of the Company;
- retaliation against anyone who has reported alleged inappropriate conduct; and
- allowing someone to witness the meeting without authority from the Company.

Policy and procedures

Minor breaches

Where your behaviour is deemed to be in breach of the standards required then you will normally be asked in the meeting to curtail your behaviour and you will be expected to comply with that request. In addition the Company may issue an informal warning (letter of concern) for minor infringements and you would be expected to comply with the request.

Serious breaches

Where the breach of procedures is deemed to be severe the Company may ask for your immediate removal from the meeting without warning or where a virtual meeting the Chair/organiser may remove you from the meeting. The Company also reserves the right to consider disciplinary action in line with the Disciplinary Policy & Procedures where the policy is breached.

The Company reserves the right to prohibit attendance of anyone (including third parties) at any future meeting who has not met the required code of conduct.

Menopause Policy

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors.

This policy sets out the rights of anyone experiencing menopausal symptoms and explains the support available to them in the workplace. It also helps line managers to understand how best to support someone who is experiencing symptoms and what adjustments might need to be considered.

Your entitlements and responsibilities

The menopause usually occurs in women who are in their late 40's or early 50's and is a natural stage of life for women when their periods stop and they experience hormonal changes such as a decrease in oestrogen levels. It can also happen much earlier in their twenties/thirties for women but this is not common. The term 'perimenopause' is used when a woman's body is starting to change in the build up to the menopause. The perimenopause usually starts in the mid-forties, but can start earlier or later and last several years. It is important to be aware that certain surgery such as a hysterectomy or having chemotherapy, rather than natural ageing, will trigger the menopause in a woman.

Managing the impact of the menopause at work is important for all parties.

For those experiencing symptoms:

- it can be a difficult and stressful time which sometimes goes undiagnosed and/or untreated;
- they could be experiencing physical changes to the body which can be considerable and require a change in lifestyle and habits;
- their mental health and over-all sense of wellbeing could be impacted; and
- it is a very sensitive and personal matter which can last many years.

For management:

- to understand the health and wellbeing issues which might be raised and ways in which they can provide support; and
- to understand the potential impact on work

Your responsibilities

If you believe you are in the perimenopause stage or are entering the menopause and you feel that this is impacting upon your work it is important to talk to your manager or the relevant person at work. Understanding the symptoms is not easy as there are more than 34 symptoms, which can include:

- difficulty sleeping and night sweats;
- feeling tired and completely lacking in energy;
- mood swings;
- depression;
- feeling anxious and panic attacks;
- hot flushes;
- struggling to remember things or to concentrate and focus;
- taking longer to recover from illness;
- irregular periods which can become heavier before stopping altogether;
- aches and pains including muscle and joint stiffness;
- recurring urinary tracts infections and problems;
- headaches including migraines;
- putting on weight;
- noticeable heartbeats;
- skin irritation;
- dry eyes; and
- joint stiffness, aches and pains.

Each of these symptoms might affect performance at work. In order to support you during this time the company needs to be made aware of how the menopause is impacting you, so honest and open conversations are encouraged. With your consent medical information may be requested and guidance from professionals sought.

Employer responsibilities

Provide support

The Company aims to facilitate an open and understanding working environment. You are encouraged to inform your line manager that you are experiencing menopausal symptoms at an early stage to ensure that symptoms are treated as an ongoing health issue rather than as individual instances of ill health. Early notification will also help line managers to determine the most appropriate course of action to support your individual needs. If you do not wish to discuss the issue with your direct line manager you may find it helpful to have an initial discussion with a trusted colleague or another manager.

There are many external sources of help and support for employees and managers, including the information points below:

- www.menopausematters.co.uk which provides information about the menopause, menopausal symptoms and treatment options;
- the www.daisynetwork.org charity, which provides support for women experiencing premature menopause or premature ovarian insufficiency; and
- the www.menopausecafe.net which provides information about events where strangers gather to eat cake, drink tea and discuss the menopause.

Reasonable adjustments

Following discussions with your manager and/or after seeking medical advice certain reasonable adjustments may be put in place to support you because being able to manage the effects of the menopause and perimenopause includes making sure health and safety checks are in place, are regularly carried out and risks minimised, reduced or where possible removed.

Environment

Consideration will be given to your wellbeing and this could include things like the environment, for example are you able to access ventilation easily or sit next to a window to enable you to cool down quickly when experiencing a hot flush. Take the time to discuss any needs.

Flexible working

The Company recognises that difficulty sleeping is a common symptom of the menopause. To reflect this, as well as the impact of other common symptoms, we aim to facilitate flexible working wherever possible. Requests for flexible working could include asking for:

- a change to the pattern of hours worked;
- permission to perform work from home;
- a reduction in working hours; or
- more frequent breaks.

You should discuss such requests with your line manager and (where applicable) follow the Flexible Working Request procedure in the Flexible Working Policy. Depending on the circumstances, requests may be approved on a permanent or temporary basis.

Data Protection

The Company will process any personal data collected in accordance with its Data Protection policy. Data collected from the point at which the Company becomes aware of the issue is held securely and accessed by, and disclosed to, individuals only for the purposes of providing the necessary support.

Discrimination

The menopause can in extreme cases amount to a disability for the purposes of the Equality Act 2010. The Company will ensure that you are not treated less favourably than others as a result of any disability and will also work with you to make reasonable adjustments as required.

Health and safety

The Health and Safety at Work etc. Act 1974 imposes a duty on the Company to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable everyone's health, safety and welfare at work. The Company will consider whether or not a risk assessment is necessary to identify how working conditions could affect those experiencing the menopause in the workplace.

Mobile and Office Telephones

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors.

This policy outlines your responsibilities in respect of Company mobile and office telephones and the rules relating to personal mobile phones at work.

Your entitlement and responsibilities

Provision and use of equipment

If the Company provides you with a mobile phone or use of a landline for business purposes, the Company will meet the rental and standard costs in respect of business use. You must ensure that the mobile phone and accessories are kept in good condition at all times and that your mobile phone is charged and available for use during working hours.

You must observe any site specific restrictions imposed by other organisations regarding the use of mobile phones, including requests to keep mobile phones turned off or to be stored in a separate location.

Inappropriate use

The content of any messages, emails and voicemails must comply with the standards required of any other form of written or verbal communication and be consistent with accepted conventions and practice.

Abuse of the digital or voice messaging facility may result in disciplinary action. The sending and/or receiving of any material which is, in the opinion of the Company inappropriate i.e. defamatory; offensive or obscene; untrue or malicious; may constitute gross misconduct and result in summary dismissal.

If you receive any inappropriate emails or messages, you must notify your line manager immediately.

The Company monitors the use of its mobile and office telephones in compliance with the Monitoring Policy. Company mobile or office telephones may not be used for personal purposes unless specified otherwise in your Contract of Employment.

The Company reserves the right to deduct from your pay the cost of any personal use or alternative arrangements may be agreed to repay these costs.

Set out below are details of what the Company considers unacceptable usage of Company phones. This list is not exhaustive. Unacceptable usage includes:

- carrying out any work which is not on the Company's behalf, without prior authorisation;
- contacting recruitment agencies or logging into recruitment applications or websites (unless work related);
- contacting other employers with a view to seeking employment;
- engaging in gambling;
- the purchase or sale of goods, unless you have been authorised to do so by a member of senior management;
- browsing or "surfing" online during working hours;
- communicating for lengthy periods of time for personal purposes; or
- communicating confidential information outside the organisation unless specifically authorised to do so.

Company mobile phones should not be used to download or interact with any non-work related applications or websites. If social media apps are required as part of your role within the Company then their use may be permitted within reason and in compliance with the Social Media policy.

Personal Calls and Mobile Telephones

Personal mobile telephones should only be used during your scheduled breaks and not used during working hours.

We accept that there will be occasions when you may need to make and receive personal phone calls during working hours. This should however be kept to a minimum and when strictly necessary. We would encourage you to speak to your line manager to discuss any circumstances where this may be necessary, so that appropriate arrangements can be considered.

Incoming personal calls should be made to your personal number and not to a work landline or mobile.

If it is found you are making or receiving excessive personal calls without prior management approval, this will be discussed with you.

If you choose to, and have been authorised to use any Company business applications on your personal device, please be aware that the Company is not liable for any damage to your personal device if used for, or during, working hours. This clearly does not apply where the Company has provided mobile telephones for business use.

Loss or damage

Your Company mobile phone is your responsibility. You must take all reasonable precautions to ensure that your mobile phone is not stolen, lost or damaged. Do not leave your mobile phone in a visible place such as in an unattended vehicle. Where possible you must set up a personal identification number (PIN) to prevent any unauthorised person from accessing or using your phone.

In the event that your Company mobile phone is stolen, lost or damaged you must contact your manager immediately.

If loss or damage is caused to your Company mobile phone as a result of your negligence, you may be charged for the cost of the repair or for a replacement phone. You may be required to reimburse the Company for the associated costs or the Company may deduct the sum owed directly from your pay.

Procedure

Mobile phones and Driving

A hands-free mobile phone, where correctly fitted, may be used but not in a manner that affects your concentration or control of the vehicle.

You must not hold your phone during usage, unless the vehicle has been parked in a safe place and the engine has been switched off. Hands-free access means using, for example:

- a Bluetooth headset
- voice command
- a dashboard holder or mat
- a windscreen mount
- a built-in sat nav.

The device must not block your view of the road and traffic ahead.

If you incur a fixed penalty or fine in relation to the use of a mobile phone whilst driving you will be responsible for the associated costs. You must inform your line manager immediately of any fine or penalty points placed on your licence or if you are disqualified from driving.

Returning the equipment

If you are requested to return your mobile phone to the Company you must return the phone and accessories immediately. On termination of your employment, the mobile phone must be returned to the Company no later than the final day of your employment. The Company retains the right to deduct the cost of the mobile phone and/or accessory that is not returned, or is returned in a damaged condition due to your negligence, from your final pay.

Breach of this policy

If this policy is breached the Company reserves the right to withdraw the Company mobile phone and take disciplinary action. Any breach of the policy including, but not limited to, inappropriate use of Company mobile or land-lines and using a mobile phone device whilst driving may be treated as gross misconduct and may result in your dismissal without notice.

Monitoring

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors.

This policy sets out the Company's approach to monitoring, provides information relating to the types of monitoring used and the Company's obligations in relation to such monitoring and in introducing additional monitoring.

The Company's responsibilities

You should be aware that the Company may carry out monitoring of employees, workers and contractors.

Monitoring may be necessary either to allow the Company to perform its contract with you or for the Company's own legitimate interests. The Company's reasons for monitoring include:

- security and the prevention and detection of crime
- ensuring appropriate use of the Company's telecommunications and computer systems
- ensuring compliance with regulatory requirements
- monitoring attendance, work and behaviour;

Types of monitoring

The monitoring carried out may include:

- monitoring of premises using video cameras
- monitoring of vehicles using the ANPR automatic number plate recognition barrier system
- monitoring e-mails and analysing e-mail traffic
- monitoring websites visited by staff using Company systems
- recording telephone calls and checking call logs
- monitoring the use of Company vehicles via vehicle-tracking systems
- monitoring, including recording, of digital meeting systems used by staff
- entry and exit systems, including the use of biometric data such as fingerprints
- tracking via mobile devices

The Company may use information gathered through monitoring as the basis for disciplinary action.

If disciplinary action results from information gathered through monitoring, you will be given the opportunity to see or hear the relevant information in advance of the disciplinary meeting.

The Company will ensure data collected through monitoring is processed in accordance with the Company's Data Protection Policy and data protection legislation and, in particular, it will be kept secure and access will be limited to authorised individuals.

Additional monitoring

The Company reserves the right to introduce additional monitoring. Before doing so, the Company will:

- identify the purpose for which the monitoring is to be introduced
- ensure that the type and extent of monitoring is limited to what is necessary to achieve that purpose
- where appropriate, consult with affected staff in advance of introducing the monitoring
- weigh up the benefits that the monitoring is expected to achieve against the impact it may have on staff

The Company will ensure that you are aware of when, why and how monitoring is to take place and the standards they are expected to achieve.

Covert monitoring

If the Company has reason to believe that certain employees, workers or contractors are engaged in criminal activity, the Company may use covert monitoring to investigate that suspicion. In such instances, any monitoring will take place under the guidance of the police and will be carried out in accordance with Data Protection legislation.

Neonatal Care Leave

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees. However, Statutory Neonatal Care Pay may be available to both employees and workers.

This policy outlines your statutory right to Neonatal Care Leave, the qualifying conditions for Statutory Neonatal Care Pay and the procedure that you need to follow when requesting Neonatal Care Leave. It also provides information relating to your contractual rights and your right to return to work following Neonatal Care Leave.

The following sections provide only a general guide; further guidance and clarification must be sought from Management.

Your entitlements and responsibilities

You can take Neonatal Care Leave if you are a parent (or partner of a parent) of a child who is receiving, or has received, neonatal care. Neonatal care must have begun within the first 28 days of birth, and care must continue for a period of at least seven continuous days, beginning with the day after neonatal care started.

Neonatal care is defined as:

- medical care received in a hospital
- medical care received under the direction of a consultant following discharge from hospital
- palliative or end of life care.

Timing and length of Neonatal Care Leave

You can take one week of leave in respect of each week the child receives neonatal care without interruption, up to a maximum of 12 weeks.

You can choose to take the leave whilst the child is receiving neonatal care and/or at a later time, provided that the leave is taken within 68 weeks of your child's birth date. If you have already started a period of statutory leave (such as maternity, paternity, shared parental or adoption leave) you can take your neonatal care leave after completing the other statutory leave.

Leave taken whilst the child is receiving neonatal care (and up to 7 days after care ends) can be taken in non-continuous blocks of a minimum of one week at a time. Leave taken at a later date must be taken in one continuous block.

Neonatal Care Leave can start on any day of the week. The earliest that leave can start is the eighth day after the first period of neonatal care started.

Multiple births

The 12 week limit also applies if more than one child born as a result of the same pregnancy is receiving neonatal care. If more than one child is receiving neonatal care at the same time, entitlement to Neonatal Care Leave for that period can only be accrued in respect of one child.

Qualifying conditions for Neonatal Care Leave

In order to qualify for Neonatal Care Leave you must:

- be a parent or adopter, or intended parent or adopter, of the child or be the partner of the child's mother or adopter
- have responsibility for the child's upbringing
- be taking the leave to care for the child
- comply with the notice requirements detailed below.

Statutory Neonatal Care Pay

Statutory Neonatal Care Pay is paid at a statutory rate, or 90% of weekly earnings, whichever is the lower amount.

In order to qualify for Statutory Neonatal Care Pay you must:

- have worked continuously for the Company for 26 weeks up to the end of the week prior to the relevant week
- have average weekly earnings equal to or above the Lower Earnings Limit for National Insurance purposes over the eight week period leading up to the end of the relevant week.

'Relevant week' means:

- the 15th week before the expected week of childbirth (if you are entitled to statutory maternity pay or statutory paternity pay in relation to the birth)
- the week in which the adopter is notified of being matched with the child (if you are entitled to statutory adoption pay or statutory paternity pay in relation to adoption)
- the week immediately before the one in which the neonatal care starts (in all other cases).

Contractual benefits during your Neonatal Care Leave

You are entitled to your normal terms and conditions of employment, with the exception of pay, whilst on Neonatal Care Leave.

Contact during Neonatal Care Leave

The Company may make reasonable contact with you during your Neonatal Care Leave.

Procedure

- the date on which neonatal care started (and ended, when this is known)
- the date and duration of your Neonatal Care Leave
- confirmation that you will be taking the leave to care for the child and that you meet the qualifying conditions.

Notice to take leave whilst the child is receiving neonatal care

If you are taking leave whilst the child is receiving neonatal care, or up to seven days after neonatal care has ended, notice does not have to be in writing, but it should be given before your scheduled start time on your first day of absence. If this is not reasonably practicable, notice should be given as soon as reasonably practicable.

If you qualify for Statutory Neonatal Care Pay, you must provide the information listed above in writing within 28 days after the start of the leave.

Notice to take leave after neonatal care has ended

If you are taking leave more than seven days after neonatal care has ended (such as at the end of another period of statutory leave), notice should be given in writing in advance, as follows:

- 15 days' notice of one week of neonatal care leave (and pay, if eligible)
- 28 days' notice of two or more weeks of neonatal care leave (and pay, if eligible).

Returning to work after Neonatal Care Leave

You are normally entitled to return to the same job following your Neonatal Care Leave.

If your Neonatal Care Leave immediately follows Parental Leave of more than four consecutive weeks, or other statutory family-related leave totalling more than 26 weeks, you are also entitled to return to your original job. However, if this is not reasonably practicable, you will be offered a similar role on no less favourable terms and conditions.

Breach of this policy

If you take a period of Neonatal Care Leave fraudulently, you may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal.

Parental Bereavement Leave

Contact during Parental Bereavement Leave

Procedure

Requesting Parental Bereavement Leave

The Company understands that, due to the nature of the circumstances giving rise to Parental Bereavement Leave, it will not always be possible to give the Company advance notice of any leave, but you should let the Company know as soon as you can.

You must give the Company notice of your intention to take Parental Bereavement Leave, stating:

- the date of the child's death
- the date on which the leave is to begin
- whether you intend to take one or two weeks' leave

You do not have to do this in writing, but you will need to give the Company sufficient information for us to understand that your time off falls under the Parental Bereavement Leave provision.

- a declaration that you meet the qualifying conditions (i.e. that you are the parent of the child).

Returning to work after your Parental Bereavement Leave

You are normally entitled to return to the same job following your Parental Bereavement Leave.

If your Parental Bereavement Leave immediately follows Parental Leave of more than four consecutive weeks, or other statutory family-related leave totalling more than 26 weeks, you are also entitled to return to your original job. However, if this is not reasonably practicable, you will be offered a similar role on no less favourable terms and conditions.

Breach of this policy

If you take a period of Parental Bereavement Leave fraudulently, you may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal.

Parental Leave can only be taken in blocks of one complete week or more, except in the case of children with a disability, when you may take Parental Leave one day at a time.

Contractual benefits during Parental Leave

You are entitled to enjoy your normal terms and conditions of employment, with the exception of pay, while on Parental Leave.

Procedure

If you meet the qualifying conditions detailed above, you are required to give the Company a minimum of 21 calendar days' notice, in writing, of your request to take Parental Leave. The request must specify the start and end date of the intended leave and state that the purpose of the leave is to spend time with or to take care of the child.

You must confirm if you have previously taken Parental Leave, in relation to the same child, during any previous or other employment with another employer.

You are also required to provide evidence of your responsibility to the child and the child's date of birth or date of adoption placement. This evidence can be a birth certificate; adoption or matching certificate; court order or parental responsibility agreement.

If you intend to take a period of Parental Leave immediately after a period of Paternity Leave, you must give the Company a minimum of 21 days' notice from the beginning of the expected week of childbirth or placement.

The right to postpone Parental Leave

The Company has the right to postpone your Parental Leave for up to six months if the timing of your absence will unduly disrupt the business. However, any Parental Leave requested to take place immediately after the birth of your child, or the date of placement, will not be postponed provided that you have given 21 calendar days' notice of your intention to take Parental Leave at this time.

Returning to work after Parental Leave

You are normally entitled to return to the same job following your Parental Leave.

If your Parental Leave is for more than four consecutive weeks, or immediately follows other statutory family-related leave totalling more than 26 weeks, you are also entitled to return to your original job. However, if this is not reasonably practicable, you will be offered a similar role on no less favourable terms and conditions.

Breach of this policy

If you take a period of Parental Leave under this policy for any purpose other than to spend time with or otherwise care for your child, you may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

Paternity Leave and Paternity Pay

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees. However, Statutory Paternity Pay may be available to both employees and workers.

This policy outlines your statutory right to Paternity Leave and the qualifying conditions and the procedure that you need to follow when requesting Paternity Leave. It also provides information relating to your contractual rights and your right to return to work following Paternity Leave.

You may also be eligible to take Shared Parental Leave. Entitlements and procedures that apply to Shared Parental Leave are contained in a separate policy in this Handbook.

The following sections provide only a general guide; further guidance and clarification must be sought from Management.

Your entitlements and responsibilities

Right to accompany a pregnant woman to antenatal appointments

You have the right to take unpaid time off during working hours to accompany a pregnant woman to antenatal appointments where you:

- are the pregnant woman's husband or civil partner, or
- live with the woman in an enduring family relationship (whether heterosexual or same-sex relationship) and are not a relative of the woman, or
- are the expected child's father, or
- are one of a same-sex couple who is to be treated as the child's other parent under the assisted reproduction provisions, or
- are the potential applicant for a parental order under surrogacy laws.

This time off is limited to:

- no more than two occasions, and
- each lasting no more than six and a half hours.

Paternity Leave

You can take Paternity Leave in relation to the birth or adoption of a child. If you are the partner of an individual who adopts, or you are the other member of a couple who is adopting jointly, you may be entitled to Paternity Leave.

If you have adopted the child, you can choose who will take the Adoption Leave and who will take the Paternity Leave. You cannot take Paternity Leave if you take Adoption Leave.

Further details of Adoption Leave entitlement are set out in the Maternity and Adoption Policy (outlined elsewhere in the Employee Handbook).

Qualifying conditions for Paternity Leave

In order to qualify for Paternity Leave you must:

- be the biological father of the child or the mother's husband or partner (male or female) or have, or expect to have, responsibility for the child's upbringing
- confirm the requested leave is intended for the purpose of caring for the child, or to support the child's mother or adoptive parent in caring for the child

If you qualify, you are entitled to take up to two weeks' Paternity Leave. Paternity Leave must be taken in units of either one whole week, two whole weeks or two non-consecutive whole weeks. Paternity Leave may start on any day of the week, on or following the child's birth, but must be completed within 52 weeks of the actual date of the birth of the child.

You may change your mind about the starting date for Paternity Leave, providing you tell the Company at least 28 calendar days in advance of the changed start date (or as soon as is reasonably practicable, if not in a position to do so within the prescribed period).

Statutory Paternity Pay

If you are entitled to pay during your Paternity Leave, it will be paid at the standard rate of Statutory Paternity Pay (SPP). In order to qualify for SPP you must:

- have worked continuously for the Company for 26 weeks leading into the 15th week before the child is due; or by the week in which an approved adoption agency matches you with the child (the notification week)
- meet the Paternity Leave qualifying conditions mentioned above; and
- have average weekly earnings equal to or above the Lower Earnings Limit for National Insurance purposes over the eight week period leading up to and including, the 15th week before the child is due or, in adoption cases, the Notification Week.

Contractual benefits during your Paternity Leave

You are entitled to enjoy your normal terms and conditions of employment, with the exception of pay, whilst on Paternity Leave. You are also entitled to return to the same job following your leave.

If the Company provides you with an enhanced contractual right to Paternity Leave or Paternity Pay you should clearly understand, that when payment of contractual paternity pay is made this is inclusive of any SPP entitlement i.e. you are not entitled to both.

Contact during Paternity Leave

The Company may make reasonable contact with you during your Paternity Leave.

Procedure

Notification of intention to take Paternity Leave

If you wish to take Paternity Leave you must notify the Company by the 15th week before the expected week of childbirth, or as soon as reasonably practicable, or no more than seven days after you are notified of being matched with the child, stating your entitlement to Paternity Leave and the week the child is due, or the expected placement date.

Transitional arrangements (April–July 2026)

From 6 April 2026, employees will be eligible for Paternity Leave from their first day of employment.

To support this change, a temporary relaxation of the usual notice requirements will apply between 18 February 2026 and 25 July 2026.

During this period you will not need to provide the usual 15 weeks' notice of your baby's due date where both of the following conditions apply:

- your baby is due between 5 April 2026 and 25 July 2026; and
- you will have less than 26 weeks' service at any point during the qualifying week (the 15th week before the expected week of childbirth).

In these circumstances, you must still provide at least 28 days' notice of the intended start date and duration of your leave.

For babies due on or after 26 July 2026, the standard notice requirements will apply.

Requesting Paternity Leave

You are required to give the Company notice in advance, specifying the dates that you would like your Paternity Leave to commence. The notice that you are required to provide for each week of Paternity Leave should be 28 calendar days, or as soon as reasonably practicable.

Taking Paternity Leave

You are permitted to take Paternity Leave in units of either one whole week, two whole weeks or two non-consecutive whole weeks.

Leave may start on any day of the week on or following the child's birth or the date of adoption placement. Your leave must be completed within 52 weeks of the actual date of birth of the child, or the date of the adoption placement.

Changing the start of your Paternity Leave

Where you are to take Paternity Leave in respect of a child's birth or to coincide with the day a child is placed with you, you can give written notice to vary the start date of your leave from that which you originally specified.

At least 28 days before the Expected Week of Childbirth or the Expected Placement Date, notice should be given where you wish to:

- vary your leave to start on the day of the child's birth
- vary your leave to start a specified number of days after the child's birth or after the placement date of the child (minus the specified number of days), or
- vary your leave to start on a specific date (or a different date from that you originally specified).

Returning to work after your Paternity Leave

You are normally entitled to return to work following Paternity Leave to the same position you held before commencing your leave. Your terms of employment will continue to be the same as they would have been had you not been on Paternity Leave.

If you are unable to return to work following a period of Paternity Leave due to sickness or injury, this will be treated as sickness absence and the normal reporting procedures will apply.

You should be aware if you do not return to work for any other reason, the Company will treat a late return as an unauthorised absence, which may result in disciplinary action up to and including dismissal without notice.

Breach of this policy

If you take a period of Paternity Leave under this policy for any purpose other than to care for the child, you may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal.

Personal Relationships at Work

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors.

This sets out the Company's rules regarding personal relationships at work and outlines your responsibilities.

Your entitlements and responsibilities

The Company recognises that working together may lead to personal friendships forming and, in some cases, close personal relationships.

These rules are aimed at striking a balance between your right to a private life and the Company's right to protect its business.

The Company does not, as a general rule, wish to interfere with such friendships and relationships. However, the Company must also ensure that whilst at work everyone continues to conduct themselves in an appropriate, professional and responsible manner while at work and that everyone continues to fulfil their job duties both diligently and effectively.

Intimate personal relationships that cause disruption to the business, or that may bring the Company into disrepute, can adversely affect service to customers or colleagues.

This will not be tolerated and may render you liable to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

Those engaging in close personal relationships at work, whether the relationship is with a fellow worker or with any person connected to the Company, must adhere to the following

- you must not allow relationships to influence conduct at work. Intimate behaviour at work during working hours or on Company or client premises is prohibited
- if you begin a relationship with a colleague, client, supplier or contractor that exposes you to the potential for a conflict of interest, or for the abuse of your level of authority, you must inform your manager as soon as it is reasonably practicable

Procedure

If a relationship or breakdown of a relationship starts to affect your performance or conduct at work, it may be managed through the Company's disciplinary procedures.

In these circumstances, or if there is a clear conflict of interest or you are exposed to the risk of an abuse of authority, the Company reserves the right to transfer you to an alternative job or department to limit the risk of such exposure.

Public Interest Disclosure ('Whistleblowing')

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors.

The Company constantly strives to safeguard and act in the interest of the public and its staff. It is important to the Company that any fraud, misconduct or wrongdoing, by employees or other agents, is reported and properly addressed.

This policy applies to all employees and all other agents of the Company, who are encouraged to raise concerns in a responsible manner. The Company prefers that a concern is raised and dealt with properly, rather than kept quiet.

Your responsibilities

You are encouraged to bring to the attention of the Company any practice or action of the Company, its employees or other agents that you reasonably believe is against the public interest, in that the practice or action is:

- a criminal offence
- sexual harassment
- a failure to comply with any legal obligation
- a miscarriage of justice
- a danger to the health and safety of any individual
- damage to the environment
- an attempt to conceal information on any of the above

Any individual raising legitimate concerns will not be subject to any detriment, either during or after employment. The Company will also endeavour to ensure that the individual is protected from any intimidation or harassment by any other parties.

This policy should not be used for complaints relating to your own personal circumstances, such as the way you have been treated at work, which should be raised under the Company's Grievance Procedure.

Procedure

In the first instance, you should raise any concerns you have with your manager. If you believe your manager to be involved, or if, for any reason, you do not wish to approach your manager, then you should raise it with a more senior person in the Company.

Any matter raised under this policy will be investigated promptly and confidentially. The outcome of the investigation, as well as any necessary remedial action to be taken, will be confirmed to you. If no action is to be taken, the reason for this will be explained to you.

Allegations regarding potential breaches of this policy will be treated in confidence and investigated thoroughly. If you raise any concerns under this policy, the Company is committed to ensuring that you are protected from victimisation, harassment or less favourable treatment. Any such incidents will be dealt with under the Company's Disciplinary Procedures.

Escalating your concern

If you are dissatisfied with this response, you should raise your concerns in writing directly with a more senior person in the Company.

If, after escalating your concerns, you believe that the appropriate remedial action has not been taken, you should then report the matter to the proper authority. These authorities include:

- HM Revenue & Customs
- the Financial Conduct Authority
- the Health and Safety Executive
- the Environment Agency or Scottish Environmental Protection Agency
- the Information Commissioner

This list is not intended to be exhaustive, and you must take care to ensure you contact the proper authority in relation to the particular concerns you have.

If you are unsure as to the appropriate authority, advice can be sought from Protect (formerly known as "Public Concern at Work") which is an independent Whistleblowing Charity. Their contact details are at the end of this policy.

If you raise a false allegation and you are found to be culpable, or in any way involved in the wrongdoing, or if you raise a concern maliciously or in a manner not prescribed in this policy, then you may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal without notice for gross misconduct.

You should not disclose to a non-relevant third party any details of any concern raised in accordance with this policy, and you must not, in any circumstances, publicise your concerns in any way.

Sexual Harassment

What this policy covers

This policy applies to all employees, workers and contractors. The workplace includes normal business premises, client sites or any work-related setting (including locations for training and work-related social events). This policy also applies to virtual settings and social media where deemed to be work-related.

The Company is fully committed to promoting an environment which is free from sexual harassment and where everyone is treated with respect and dignity. The aim of this policy is to prevent sexual harassment in the workplace which includes sexual harassment by other workers or by third parties you encounter while doing your job.

Sexual harassment is unlawful and the Company has a zero-tolerance approach to it. Such behaviour is unacceptable and will not be permitted or condoned and will be viewed as a gross misconduct offence which may result in dismissal without notice.

What is sexual harassment?

Sexual harassment is unwanted conduct of a sexual nature which has the purpose or effect of violating a worker's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that worker.

It can also be treating someone less favourably because they have submitted or refused to submit to unwanted conduct of a sexual nature in the past.

A single incident of unwanted or offensive behaviour can amount to sexual harassment. Some examples are given below, but many forms of behaviour can constitute sexual harassment.

Sexual harassment can occur in various forms and can occur in the workplace, outside work, in person, by phone or online.

Sexual Harassment can be from someone of the same or a different sex.

Examples of sexual harassment are as follows:

- persistent suggestions to meet up socially after a person has made clear that they do not welcome such suggestions
- suggestions of sexual activity
- unwanted physical contact or touching
- sending offensive or sexual material by any method (e.g. by text, email or social media)
- unwelcome sexual advances, suggestive behaviour or propositions
- offensive comments about appearance or dress, innuendo or lewd comments
- making sexually suggestive gestures
- spreading gossip and speculation about a person's sexual orientation or status, including spreading rumours
- making sexual comments or jokes
- displaying sexually graphic pictures, posters or photographs
- making promises in return for sexual favours
- intrusive questions about a person's sex life or discussion of one's own sex life.

Third-party harassment

Third-party harassment occurs where an individual is harassed or sexually harassed by someone who does not work for, and who is not an agent of the same employer, but with whom they have come into contact during the course of their employment. An example of third-party harassment could be unwelcome sexual advances from a client, customer or supplier visiting the Company's premises.

Third-party sexual harassment can result in legal liability and the Company will not tolerate it in any circumstances. All staff are encouraged to report any third-party harassment that they witness or are a victim of.

Any sexual harassment by a member of staff against a third-party will be viewed as a gross misconduct offence which may result in dismissal without notice.

The Company has a legal requirement to take reasonable steps to prevent sexual harassment of its staff by third parties. These steps may include displaying warning notices to customers and recorded messages at the beginning of telephone calls confirming expected standards of behaviour.

If any third-party harassment of staff occurs, the Company will take steps to remedy and to prevent it from happening again. This could include reporting any criminal acts to the police.

Your rights and responsibilities

Your rights

You have the right to work in an environment which is free from any form of sexual harassment.

Anyone who is a victim of sexual harassment is strongly encouraged to report it. All complaints will be dealt with seriously, promptly and confidentially.

Every effort will be made to ensure that, when you make a complaint, you will be protected from further acts of harassment. You will not suffer any form of retaliation or victimisation as a result of raising any such complaints. If others also give evidence or information in connection with the complaint, they equally will be protected. Perpetrators of these acts will be subject to disciplinary action which may warrant dismissal. The Company will take into account any aggravating factors such as the abuse of power over a more junior colleague, when deciding the appropriate disciplinary action to take.

Your responsibilities

You have a responsibility to help ensure a working environment in which the dignity of everyone is respected. You must comply with this policy and you should ensure that your behaviour to colleagues and anyone connected to the Company, does not cause offence and could not in any way be considered to be sexual harassment.

You should discourage sexual harassment by making it clear that you find such behaviour unacceptable. You should also support colleagues who suffer such treatment and are considering making a complaint. You must alert a manager or supervisor immediately to any incident of sexual harassment to enable the Company to deal with the matter promptly and effectively.

The Company's responsibilities

The Company will ensure that adequate resources are made available to promote respect and dignity in the workplace and to deal effectively with complaints of sexual harassment. This policy will be communicated effectively to all and the Company will ensure that everyone is aware of their responsibilities.

The Company has a legal requirement to take reasonable steps to prevent sexual harassment of its staff. These steps are as follows:

- ensuring all new starters attend equality, diversity and inclusion training and anti-bullying and anti-harassment training
- requiring all workers to attend regular equality, diversity and inclusion training and anti-bullying and anti-harassment training on at least an annual basis
- providing additional training for line managers to ensure that they fully understand how to implement this policy effectively and their role in preventing and stopping sexual harassment from occurring in the workplace
- encouraging and welcoming concerns and complaints being raised where individuals consider they have experienced or witnessed incidents of sexual harassment
- ensuring that concerns or complaints of sexual harassment are treated with sensitivity and care and addressed in a proper and thorough manner through our Company procedures
- ensuring that the Company has designated workplace champions who have received training on sexual harassment prevention
- monitoring our workplace culture through anonymous surveys, exit interviews, one-to-one conversations and return-to-work meetings to identify and address any issues or themes
- undertaking regular risk assessments to determine reasonable measures that can be implemented to minimise the risk of exposure to sexual harassment in the workplace
- ensuring that our zero-tolerance approach to all forms of discrimination, and bullying and harassment, is communicated to all workers and third parties that the Company have contact with.

Reporting procedure

In order to raise a complaint of sexual harassment, please refer to the Company's Grievance Procedure (outlined elsewhere in this Employee Handbook) or contact your line manager in the first instance.

Monitoring

This policy will be reviewed at regular intervals to monitor its effectiveness and implement any required changes.

The Company will monitor the treatment and outcomes of any complaints of sexual harassment to ensure that they are effectively investigated and resolved.

Shared Parental Leave

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees. However, Shared Parental Pay may be available to both employees and workers.

This policy outlines the statutory right to take Shared Parental Leave (SPL) to care for a child following its birth or placement for adoption. It also outlines notification requirements before a period of SPL and entitlement to pay during SPL.

SPL gives those with caring responsibilities for babies or newly adopted children the opportunity to share up to 52 weeks' leave should they wish to do so. Parents taking SPL can take leave in separate blocks, returning to work in between blocks, and both parents can be on leave at the same time. Eligible carers are entitled to submit up to three 'period of leave' notices and are entitled to take SPL on those dates if a continuous period of leave is requested.

Your entitlements

Qualifying for Shared Parental Leave

To be entitled to SPL you must:

- be the mother, father, or main adopter of the child, or the partner of the mother or main adopter (each will be referred to in this policy as a parent)
- have (or share with the other parent) the main responsibility for the care of the child
- have at least 26 weeks' continuous service at the 15th week before the expected week of birth or at the week in which the main adopter was notified of having been matched for adoption with the child (known as the 'relevant week')
- still be in continuous employment until the week before any SPL is taken.

In addition, the other parent must:

- have at least 26 weeks' employment (employed or self-employed) out of the 66 weeks prior to the relevant week
- have average weekly earnings of at least £30 during at least 13 of the 66 weeks prior to the relevant week

If the other parent meets those conditions, but does not qualify for SPL, you may be entitled to the whole SPL period.

You must also follow the statutory notification and information requirements detailed in this policy.

Amount and timing of Shared Parental Leave

SPL must be taken in weekly blocks and within a one year period beginning with the date of the baby's birth or the child's placement for adoption.

The maximum of 52 weeks' SPL will be reduced by the number of weeks' maternity or adoption leave that has already been taken by the mother or main adopter (or the number of weeks' Statutory Maternity/Adoption Pay or maternity allowance already taken if the mother or main adopter is not entitled to Statutory Maternity/Adoption Leave).

After the birth of a child it is compulsory for the mother to take two weeks' maternity leave (four weeks for new mothers who work in a factory), so in the majority of cases working parents will have the opportunity to split 50 weeks of SPL.

SPL is in addition to the statutory right to two weeks' paternity leave for fathers and partners.

Benefits during Shared Parental Leave

During SPL, you are entitled to receive all your normal contractual benefits, including annual holiday entitlement, with the exception of your normal pay.

Shared Parental Pay

In addition to the requirements regarding entitlement to leave outlined above, if you wish to claim Shared Parental Pay (ShPP) you must have average weekly earnings equal to or above the Lower Earnings Limit over the eight week period ending with the relevant week.

A maximum of 39 weeks' ShPP is payable, and this will be reduced by the number of weeks' Statutory Maternity/Adoption Pay or maternity allowance already taken by the mother or main adopter. ShPP is a standard weekly rate (or 90% of your normal weekly earnings if this is lower) which is set by government each tax year.

You must follow the statutory notification and information requirements detailed below.

Holiday entitlement and Shared Parental Leave

Annual holiday entitlement will continue to accrue during the whole of your SPL. You must discuss and agree with the Company, in advance, when your accrued holiday entitlement can be taken.

Holiday entitlement cannot be taken simultaneously with SPL. Accrued holiday can only be taken either before the beginning of the leave, after the end of the leave or in between blocks of leave. Authorisation must be obtained from the Company in the normal way prior to your accrued holiday being taken.

Contact during Shared Parental Leave

The Company may make reasonable contact with you during your SPL. In addition, you may work for up to 20 days without bringing the SPL to an end, but work during SPL will not have the effect of extending your SPL period. These days are referred to as Shared Parental Leave In Touch (SPLIT) days. If you do work, you will be paid your normal rate of pay inclusive of any ShPP entitlement. You are under no obligation to work during SPL, and the Company is under no obligation to offer work.

The 20 SPLIT days available during SPL are in addition to the 10 "Keeping in touch" days available during Maternity and Adoption Leave.

Procedure

Where possible you should have an informal discussion prior to giving formal notification of intention to take SPL so that statutory entitlements to other types of leave and pay can be discussed, and to ensure that plans for any discontinuous periods of leave can be considered as early as possible.

Notice of entitlement and intention to take SPL and ShPP

You must notify the Company in writing at least eight weeks before the start date of the first period of SPL. The written notice must contain the following information:

- your name and the other parent's name
- the start and end dates of the mother's or main adopter's maternity/adoption leave (or the start and end dates of the statutory maternity/adoption pay or maternity allowance period if the mother/main adopter is not entitled to statutory leave)
- the expected date of birth/placement and the actual date of birth/placement if the written notice is given after the birth/placement
- the amount of SPL and ShPP available and an indication of how much each parent intends to take (this may be varied by a subsequent written notice signed by both parents)
- an indication of the start and end dates of the periods of SPL and ShPP that you intend to take. This indication is not binding and can be amended at a later date
- a signed declaration that you meet the conditions for entitlement to SPL, that the information provided is accurate and that you will notify the Company immediately if you cease to meet the conditions for entitlement
- a signed declaration from the other parent containing:
 - their name, address and National Insurance number
 - confirmation that they meet the employment and earnings conditions
 - confirmation that, at the time of the birth, they will share the main responsibility for the care of the child
 - their consent to the amount of leave you intend to take
 - confirmation that they will immediately inform you if they cease to satisfy the employment and earnings conditions

Notice of curtailment of Statutory Maternity/Adoption Leave and payments

At the same time that a notice of entitlement and intention to take SPL is submitted, the mother/main adopter must give the Company a leave and pay curtailment notice giving 8 weeks' notice of the date on which Maternity/Adoption Leave and Pay is to end (or the date on which Maternity/Adoption Pay is to end if they are not entitled to Maternity/Adoption Leave). If the mother is only entitled to maternity allowance (and not Maternity Leave) her notice of curtailment must be submitted to Jobcentre Plus. Her maternity allowance cannot be reinstated, so she is in effect giving consent for her partner to take the whole of any ShPP entitlement.

A notice of curtailment is usually binding, but may be revoked in the following circumstances:

- if it becomes apparent that neither parent is entitled to SPL or ShPP; or
- if the curtailment notice was given before the birth and is revoked up to six weeks following the birth (in this case another curtailment notice can be submitted); or
- if the other parent dies.

Notice to take a specific period of SPL and ShPP

The first period of SPL may be identified in the initial notice of entitlement and intention to take SPL. You are entitled to submit a maximum of three formal periods of leave notices.

Each period of leave notice must be given at least eight weeks before the start of a period of leave, stating the dates of the leave and the dates on which ShPP will be claimed, if applicable.

If the first period of leave notice is given prior to the birth of a child, the notice may express the start date in relation to the date of birth, for example 'starting two weeks after the baby is born for a period of four weeks'.

Confirmation of SPL & ShPP

If a continuous period of leave is requested in each period of leave notice, you will be entitled to take that period of leave and this will be confirmed in writing.

If more than one period of leave is requested in a period of leave notice, the Company will seek to accommodate the request but this cannot be guaranteed. Your manager will discuss the request with you to determine if it can be accommodated. If it cannot be accommodated, there may be an alternative pattern of leave which can be agreed, or the request may be refused. The Company's decision will be confirmed in writing.

If no agreement is reached within 14 calendar days of the period of leave notice being submitted you can:

- take the discontinuous periods of leave requested in one continuous block, beginning on the original start date; or
- withdraw the request within 15 calendar days of the request being submitted. If the request is withdrawn in these circumstances it will not count as one of your three requests; or
- take the continuous block starting on a new date, as long as the new date is later than the original start date, and you notify the Company of the new date within 19 calendar days.

Varying a period of leave

If you wish to vary your period of SPL, you are entitled to submit a request to:

- vary the start date as long as the variation is requested at least eight weeks before the original start date and the new start date; or
- vary or cancel the amount of leave requested at least eight weeks before the original start date; or
- request that a single period of leave becomes a discontinuous period of leave, or vice versa

A variation will count as one of your three periods of leave notices unless:

- it is made as a result of the child being born earlier or later than the expected week of childbirth
- the Company has requested the variation
- the Company has agreed to accept more than three period of leave notices

The usual eight week notice requirement may be modified if your child is born early and the new start date for the period of leave is the same length of time following the birth as in the original notice. In this case notice to vary the start date should be given as soon as reasonably practicable after the birth of the child.

Evidence requirements

The Company may request a copy of the child's birth certificate and the name and address of the other parent's employer.

In the case of adoption, the Company may request the name and address of the other parent's employer, along with evidence confirming the following:

- the name and address of the adoption agency
- the date that the main adopter was notified of having been matched for adoption with the child
- the date on which the adoption agency expects to place the child

Any such request will be made by the Company within 14 days of receiving your notice of entitlement and intention to take SPL and ShPP. You must respond to the request for evidence within 14 days (or within 14 days of the birth of the child if our request was made before the child was born).

If a birth certificate has not yet been issued, you must sign a declaration stating that fact along with the date and location of the child's birth. If the other parent has no employer, this must also be declared.

Returning from Shared Parental Leave

If you wish to return early from SPL, or extend the period of your SPL, you must notify the Company at least 8 weeks before both the original end date and the new end date.

If you return to work immediately after a period of SPL which (together with any Statutory Maternity/Adoption Leave you may have taken to care for the same child) was 26 weeks or less, you will return to work in the same job that you left.

If you return to work from a period of SPL which (together with any Maternity/ Adoption Leave you may have taken to care for the same child) was more than 26 weeks you will normally be entitled to return to the job in which you were employed before your absence. If that is not reasonably practicable, you will be offered a similar role on no less favourable terms and conditions.

You will not lose the right to return to work if you do not follow the correct notification procedures. However, the Company may take appropriate disciplinary action if you fail to return to work at the end of the SPL period.

In the event that you are unable to return to work at the end of the SPL due to ill health, the Company's normal sickness absence rules, procedures and payments will apply.

Sick Pay

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees and workers.

This policy sets out your entitlement to sick pay and outlines the basic rules and qualifying criteria that apply to sick pay. The payment of sick pay is dependent on your adherence to the Company's Absence Procedures, which can be found in this Employee Handbook.

Your entitlements

Statutory Sick Pay

Regardless of your length of service, if you are absent from work because of sickness or injury, you will normally be entitled to receive Statutory Sick Pay (SSP) from the Company at the prevailing rate.

Once you have provided the required medical evidence that you are unfit for work, SSP will be paid for each day that you remain absent due to sickness or injury. You will only be paid for those days on which you would normally work or are scheduled to work.

SSP is normally payable for a maximum of 28 weeks.

If your absence is as a result of an injury or illness caused by a third party, any Statutory Sick Pay paid is required to be repaid if any compensation for loss of earnings is recovered from the third party.

The provisions relating to SSP are extremely complex. If you have any questions about this policy, you should discuss these with your manager.

Procedure

You must comply with the Company's Absence Procedure, which is outlined in this Employee Handbook.

Time Off for Dependants

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees only.

The purpose of this policy is to ensure those who are genuinely in need of unpaid time off in order to deal with an emergency are treated fairly and consistently while minimising the impact on the business.

You are entitled to take a reasonable amount of unpaid time off during working hours to deal with particular situations affecting your dependants. The amount of time off will depend on the nature of the incident and your individual circumstances.

This policy explains what is meant by dependant and in which circumstances unpaid time off can be granted and sets out the notification procedures.

Your entitlements and responsibilities

Definition of dependant

A dependant is:

- a spouse
- a civil partner
- a child
- a parent
- a person who lives in the same household as you other than as your tenant, lodger, boarder or someone you employ
- any person who would reasonably rely on you for assistance or who would rely on you to make arrangements for the provision of care in the event of illness or injury
- any other person who may rely on you for the provision of care or arrangements for the provision of care

What counts as time off

Reasonable time off will be granted in the following circumstances:

- to provide assistance when a dependant falls ill, gives birth or is injured or assaulted
- to make arrangements for the care of a sick or injured dependant or to make arrangements to deal with an unexpected disruption to their care provision
- in consequence of the death of a dependant
- to deal with an unexpected incident involving your child during school hours or those of another educational establishment

The right is only to deal with emergencies and to put care arrangements in place - for example, arranging to employ a temporary carer or arranging for the dependant to stay with relatives. You would not be entitled to time off under this policy for the ongoing care of the dependant.

Procedure

You must inform the Company as soon as practicable of your unavailability for work, the reason for it and how long you expect to be away from work.

You do not have to do this in writing, but you will need to give the Company sufficient information for it to be determined that your time off falls under the Time Off for Dependents provision.

You may be required to provide evidence to the Company of your need to take time off under this provision.

If you fail to inform the Company as soon as is reasonably practicable that you need time off, or if you abuse the rights under this provision, you may be subject to disciplinary proceedings, up to and including dismissal without notice.

Training

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees and workers.

The Company recognises that it is its people who play a crucial role in ensuring the success of the business and is therefore committed to providing training and development to improve your skills and competence.

The Company will provide you with appropriate training to develop the knowledge and skills necessary for you to perform your duties effectively. Wherever possible, the Company will ensure you have every opportunity for career development.

This policy covers the different types of training and development you might expect and how the Company may recover the costs of training from you in particular cases.

We also encourage our team members to provide us with suggestions on suitable courses that may enhance their role and in turn value to the business.

Your entitlements

The types of training that the Company provides falls into four broad categories: induction, occupational, internal and external.

Induction training

As a new starter, you will be given a comprehensive introduction to the workplace, your colleagues, catering facilities, duties, health and safety and other procedures.

Your manager or supervisor will assess your training requirements and arrange for that training to be provided. As far as possible, the Company will meet your training needs by a combination of occupational, internal and external training.

The Induction process will be spread out over your first few weeks, an informal review with your line manager will take place after one month to discuss your Induction, what areas (if any) are still to be completed and what further areas need to be worked on.

Once your Induction is complete, we will continue to carry out regular informal on the job training. As a company, we are committed to the continuous improvement of our team and while we will provide training opportunities, everyone is encouraged to be responsible for their own learning and future development.

Occupational training

Throughout your time with the Company, there may be a need to acquire new skills and these can be gained through occupational training delivered by colleagues.

Internal training

Occasionally, the Company may arrange for external training providers to deliver training courses in the workplace. This form of training might be triggered by the introduction of new equipment or working methods and will be arranged when the Company feels the training cannot adequately be provided in-house.

External training

External training may be provided in a variety of forms, ranging from short courses of a few hours' duration through to lengthy courses leading to the award of qualifications.

Where necessary, the Company will arrange for you to undertake external training if this cannot be provided internally.

Procedure

Paying back your training costs

When you undertake external training courses with significant cost implications, you will be required, prior to commencing the course, to sign an agreement to repay all or a proportion of the costs of the course if you leave the Company's employment within a certain time period. Full details will be set out in your training cost agreement.

Failure to attend any training organised for you without giving a reasonable amount of notice to HR may result in you being liable for the full payment of the training course / fee as detailed in the Training Cost Agreement provided to you.

This policy applies to employees, workers and contractors.

This outlines the Company's expectations and your responsibilities when driving either a vehicle provided by the Company or your own vehicle for business purposes.

It also highlights the actions that you must take to ensure you drive safely and the procedures you must follow in the event of an accident. In addition, it sets out the circumstances in which the Company can recover related costs if you are responsible for an accident or damage to a vehicle provided by the Company.

Your responsibilities

The safety and security of the vehicle, passengers or loads are your responsibility and you must always lock and alarm the vehicle when you leave it unattended.

You must wash and clean your Company vehicle, both inside and outside, as often as is necessary to maintain a smart professional image. Failure to comply may result in the Company arranging for the vehicle to be valeted and deducting the associated costs from your pay.

The Company will normally meet the costs of maintaining and repairing Company vehicles if those costs arise in the course of normal use of the vehicle.

If damage to a vehicle provided by the Company is incurred as a result of your negligence or breach of this policy, you will be liable for the total cost of repairing the vehicle, for paying any insurance excess and/or any increase in premiums following a claim as a result of damage to a vehicle provided by the Company. Payments will be deducted from your pay unless an alternative method of payment is agreed with management.

Using your own vehicle when carrying out your duties

If you use your own vehicle when carrying out your duties, it is your responsibility to ensure that your vehicle is roadworthy and properly taxed and that your vehicle insurance cover extends to business usage.

The Company rules relating to Vehicles and Driving also apply if you drive your own vehicle at any time for the purpose of undertaking your duties. You must read, understand and follow these rules.

Vehicle tracking

You should be aware that all vehicles provided by the Company may be fitted with a tracking system that allows the Company to locate vehicles provided by the Company at any time and to analyse its use.

Interference with the tracking unit is viewed as a gross misconduct offence and will result in disciplinary action up to and including dismissal without notice.

You should be aware that data obtained from the tracking system will be analysed and may be used in any disciplinary proceedings. If evidence of inappropriate use of the vehicle whilst undertaking your duties is obtained, disciplinary action may be taken against you.

You must immediately report to management all damage to the Company's vehicle. The Company may require you to provide a full written report of the circumstances in which the vehicle was damaged.

Driving-related fines are your responsibility, whether or not they were incurred in the course of undertaking your duties for the Company, and you must pay these as soon as is reasonably practicable. If you fail to pay a driving-related fine, and the Company pays it on your behalf, the Company will deduct the cost of paying this fine from your pay.

If you are disqualified from driving, and you are required to drive for all or a significant proportion of your job, the Company reserves the right to terminate your employment.

Breach of this policy

In the event that you breach this policy or the procedures to be followed, this may result in disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal without notice.

Wellbeing

What this policy covers

This policy applies to employees and workers.

The Company has developed a wellbeing policy to manage its obligations to maintain the mental health and wellbeing of all staff. It covers the Company's commitment to employee and worker health, the responsibilities of managers and others for maintaining psychological health, health promotion initiatives, communicating and training on health issues, the range of support available for the maintenance of mental health, and organisational commitment to handling individual issues.

Objectives

The aim of this policy is to describe the Company's commitment to the mental health and wellbeing of staff in its broadest, holistic sense, setting out how the organisation fulfils its legal obligations, the responsibilities of different functions and specialists and the range of services available to help staff maintain health and wellbeing. The Company recognises that wellbeing and performance are linked. Improving staff's ability to handle pressure and to balance work and home life will ultimately lead to improved individual and organisational performance.

Organisational commitment

The Company has legal obligations under health and safety legislation to manage risks to the health and safety of its staff. In addition to reducing safety risks, this means operating the business in a way that minimises harm to its staff's mental health, for example by ensuring that the demands of jobs are not unacceptable and having policies and procedures in place to support individuals experiencing mental ill health at work.

The Company will put in place measures to prevent and manage risks to staff wellbeing, together with appropriate training and individual support. It will also seek to foster a mentally healthy culture by incorporating these principles into line manager training and running regular initiatives to raise awareness of mental health issues at work.

We will:

- take a holistic approach and appreciate that wellbeing has multiple different areas of consideration;
- encourage a culture of support and empathy that allows our team members to be open about their current health, wellbeing and struggles currently being faced;
- provide suitable opportunities and resources to enhance your wellbeing;
- support you if you're experiencing health issues, making reasonable adjustments where needed and possible to support you in the work place;
- treat you with respect, not making judgements or assumptions that may have a negative impact;
- appreciate that while mental health may have limited visual sign posts, it can have an equally detrimental effect as a physical ailment;
- provide sufficient training to our teams to allow basic Emergency Physical and Mental Health First Aid to be administered as required; and
- keep information confidential wherever possible unless the situation dictates, e.g where informing team members would be a support or necessary to allow adjustments.

Responsibilities

Organisation

The Company has a legal duty of care to employees and workers to ensure health at work, as set out in the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 and the Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999. The organisation will ensure that its policies and practices reflect this duty and review the operation of these documents at regular intervals.

Line managers

Line managers will put in place measures to minimise the risks to staff wellbeing, particularly from negative pressure at work. Managers must familiarise themselves with the Health and Safety Executive's stress management standards, and use these to mitigate psychological risks in their teams. For example, managers should ensure that staff understand their role within the team and receive the necessary information and support from managers and team members to do their job. Managers must also familiarise themselves with the Company's policies on diversity and tackling inappropriate behaviour in order to support staff, for example on bullying and harassment issues.

In particular, line managers must ensure that they take steps to reduce the risks to staff health and wellbeing by:

- ensuring that the right people are recruited to the right jobs and that a good match is obtained between individuals recruited and job descriptions/specifications
- keeping the team up to date with developments at work and how these might affect their job and workload
- ensuring that staff know who to approach with problems concerning their role and how to pursue issues with senior management
- making sure jobs are designed fairly and that work is allocated appropriately between teams and
- ensuring that work stations are regularly assessed to ensure that they are appropriate and fit for purpose.

Human Resources

The HR department will develop Company-wide policies and procedures to protect the wellbeing of staff, assist line managers in supporting individuals, and liaise as appropriate with occupational health and other medical professionals, with the object of helping employees and workers to maintain good psychological health.

Occupational health

Occupational health professionals will provide a comprehensive service designed to help staff to stay in work, or to return to work, after experiencing mental health problems. This will include preparing medical assessments of individuals' fitness for work following referrals from line managers and the HR department, liaising with GPs and working with individuals to help them to retain employment.

Occupational health professionals will play a critical part in developing rehabilitation plans for employees and workers returning to work after absences related to mental ill health, and work with GPs and line managers on designing jobs and working environments to ensure that rehabilitation is successful. Occupational health professionals will also design and implement health promotion and lifestyle behaviour management programmes, including initiatives on managing pressure and ongoing health conditions at work.

Employee Assistance Provider

The provider of external employee assistance services Health Assured will alert the Company's management to clusters or "hotspots" of psychological risk in the organisation, drawing on anonymised data provided by calls to its 24-hour helpline and information from face-to-face counselling with employees and workers.

Employees and workers

You must take responsibility for your own health and wellbeing, by adopting good health behaviours (for example in relation to diet, alcohol consumption and smoking) and informing the Company if you believe work or the work environment poses a risk to your health. Any health-related information disclosed by you during discussions with managers, the HR department or the occupational health service is treated in confidence.

Talk to Us

Life is full of ups and downs, we want to celebrate the ups with you and also support you through the downs. The first step of this is talking to us, this could be someone in your team, your line manager or anyone else you feel able to speak to.

If you are experiencing any health concerns, personal struggles or generally feeling like you don't know where to turn, we encourage you to talk to us and while we may not have all the answers, we will help where we can and be able to point you in the right direction.

If you require time off work for a physical or mental health reason, you should follow our sickness absence procedure included within our Employee Handbook. Wherever possible, you should call your line manager at your earliest opportunity to advise of your non-attendance at work. We appreciate that in some circumstances, you may not feel able to talk to anyone, in which case a text message will be sufficient - providing a follow up phone call is made to your line manager during the course of the day when you feel able.

Health promotion initiatives

The Company will develop and run a range of health promotion initiatives designed to raise awareness of health and lifestyle issues affecting mental health and wellbeing. Occupational health professionals and the HR department will have primary responsibility for leading these programmes, but line managers and staff will be expected to participate. These programmes will be evaluated to determine their effectiveness. The programmes will cover:

- stress management
- disability awareness
- bullying and harassment
- handling violence and traumatic incidents at work
- lifestyle behaviours, with voluntary screening (for example in relation to alcohol, drugs and smoking) and
- physical activity and fitness.

Staff will also be encouraged to establish clubs and groups designed to foster wellbeing, for example lunchtime walking or dancing clubs.

Training and communication

Line managers and staff will regularly discuss individual training needs to ensure that staff have the necessary skills to adapt to ever-changing job demands. An examination of training needs will be particularly important prior to, and during, periods of organisational change.

Managers and staff are encouraged to participate in communication/feedback exercises, including stress audits and staff surveys. You are expected to be aware of the importance of effective communication and to use the media most appropriate to the message, for example team meetings, one-to-one meetings, electronic communications and organisation-wide methods. The Company will ensure that structures exist to give employees and workers regular feedback on their performance, and for them to raise concerns.

The Company will consider special communication media during periods of organisational change.

Seeking Help

While we are committed to training our teams to be able to respond and provide basic care, we will never be professionals in this area. If you are experiencing more severe or ongoing issues, we recommend you seek medical assistance by contacting your registered GP practice or local Hospital.

Dependent on the issues you are experiencing, there are a range of support networks and organisations who will specialise in providing information and help to assist you in any situation, please speak to your line manager in the first instance who will be able to provide you with this information or point you in the right direction.
